SHAW SAYS, "I'LL CLEAR MYSELF OF CHARGES"

Reaches Albany on Way Here and Tells the "American" He Has Some Surprises to Spring in Court

ALBANY, March 22.—Arthur Willis Shaw, under indictment by the Suffolk County Grand Jury for the alleged larceny of $10,000 from the A. W. Shaw Company of Freeport, Me., passed through here at noon to-day in company with Captain Ainslee C. Armstrong and Inspector Patrick J. Gaddis of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation. Shaw is being taken to Boston from Los Angeles, where he was arrested on information furnished the Boston police by the AMERICAN.

"I have not had an opportunity to present my side of the case as yet" said Mr. Shaw. "You know there is always two sides to every question. When I do present my case the public will see that I am not the arch criminal that some persons have tried to make me appear.

"Prior to and after leaving Boston I did things that no sane man would think of doing. I can see it all now that my doings have been explained to me. My condition was caused by business trouble and personal matters, all of which I will explain fully when I appear in court.

I have evidence which will prove that I was authorized to purchase certain bonds for the shoe company and to try and raise money for the company. I am absolutely confident that I will clear myself of all charges that have been made against me and my family.

Not in Right Mind

"It will also be apparent to everyone that I was not in the right state of mind when I went away.

"Just what I wil do about my business I cannot tell until I find out the exact state of affairs."

Mr. Shaw made this statement in the face of the fact that Captain Armstrong is bringing back several letters which it is alleged Mrs. Georgia Mayo Stuart wrote to Shaw in Los Angeles.

Letter from Mrs. Stuart.

One of the letters is a twelve-page account of the efforts to locate Shaw after his disappearance from Boston February 1, and the position assumed by Mrs. Stuart.

This letter tells the manner in which Mrs. Stuart was watched and questioned

OFFER TO RAISE PAY OF BROOKS

"If it's a matter of money, we'll meet it," said Chairman David A. Ellis of the Boston School Committee today, discussing the decision which Superintendent of Schools Stratton D. Brooks will announce to the committee tonight as to whether or not he will stay in Boston or accept the presidency of the University of Oklahoma.

The members of the school committee hope and really feel confident that Superintendent Brooks will remain in Boston. He has been offered $7,500 a year by the faculty of the University of Oklahoma, which is $1,500 a year more than his salary as superintendent of schools in Boston. The school board, however, declares it is prepared to meet any offer that the University of Oklahoma can make to retain the services of Mr. Brooks.

Superintendent Brooks said today:

"I have not made up my mind what I shall do. The offer from the University of Oklahoma is a good one from many standpoints, but I like Boston. I am giving the question every consideration and my decision will be made public at the School Committee meeting tonight."

DR. ELIOT GOES INTO MIDST OF CHINESE WAR

HONG KONG, March 22.—Trouble is brewing between the various sections of the population in the province of Kwang Si and an outbreak may occur at any moment, according to reports.

During the fighting at Swatow the Standard Oil tanks and warehouses were struck frequently by stray bullets. The Standard Oil Co., which has its headquarters here, has put in a claim for 1,000,000 taels (about $700,000) for damage.

Dr. Charles Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, who is now here, is proceeding to Canton, Pekin and Hankow and apparently is not afraid of the disturbances.

CHINA FAMINE FUND STANDS AT $7,299

Gardiner M. Lane, treasurer of the Massachusetts Branch of the American Red Cross, announced today that the Chinese famine fund stands at $7,299.32. Among the new subscriptions are Kidder, Peabody Co., $500 and St. Andrew's Church, Wellesley, $100.

WILLIAM JAMES, TRAVELER, DEAD

LONDON, March 22.—The death of William James, a personal friend of the late King Edward, was announced today by his family. Mr. James was fifty-eight years old and a noted traveler.

Mayor Wants Probe of Hart's Dismissal

Expects Finance Board to Act on Removal by Court Clerk Campbell.

Mayor Fitzgerald expects the Finance Commission to investigate the summary dismissal of Michael J. Hart from the office of Clerk Campbell of the Superior Civil Court.

"I do not see how they can do otherwise," said the Mayor today. "It is admitted in a public statement that the man was discharged solely for political reasons. It would seem that some action from the commission was justified."

"While John A. Sullivan is counsel for Mr. Campbell and signed the report of the commission upon the clerk's office, nevertheless I expect that the Commission will take action."

Senator Joseph P. Lomasney, who is a brother of the Ward 8 leader, conferred with Mayor Fitzgerald today. It was through being too closely allied with the Lomasneys that resulted in Hart's dismissal. The Mayor said that his conference with the Senator had nothing to do with the Hart case.

In political circles it is understood that the disagreement between Campbell and the Lomasneys was due to the former's failure to live up in full to an agreement made with the city committee officials. When Campbell was seeking re-election, according to the story, he was eager for the support of the Democratic City Committee, and interviewed a number of the Democratic leaders. This support was finally promised in return for a contribution to the city machine. Those who are circulating the rumors state that the clerk was dissatisfied with the support he received and declined to fulfill his part of the agreement, although he did assist the machine financially, but not to the full extent of the alleged promise.

The defeat of the bill to raise the salary of Clerk Campbell is understood to be an aftermath of the incident with relation to his re-election.

MILLION DOLLAR LOSS BY FLOODS ON OHIO RIVER

PITTSBURG, March 22.—Twenty-eight feet was reached in the Ohio River early today, and the water was steadily rising, threatening one of the most destructive floods ever known in this section.

Families were driven from their homes, railroad traffic suspended, streets inundated to a depth of eight feet and havoc in general created by the rushing water of the rivers last night, when it ran far over the banks and caused great damage and privations. It was the biggest flood in four years, and the entire water front of the north side was patrolled by police in skiffs and motor boats.

The loss in the Pittsburg district may reach one million dollars.

SEES NEW HOPE FOR RICHESON

"I feel very confident that Governor Foss will submit the petition for commutation of Richeson's sentence, which I intend to present, to the Executive Council. I talked with the Governor about the matter yesterday and he promised to give me a hearing at a later date at which he will hear all the reasons which I have to present for the commutation of the death sentence, imposed upon Richeson, to life imprisonment."—Statement today by William A. Morse, counsel for Richeson.

Former Senator William A. Morse, counsel for Clarence V. T. Richeson, who is under sentence to die in the electric chair in the week beginning May 19, for the murder of Avis Linnell, is confident that when the petition for the commutation of Richeson's sentence to life imprisonment is presented to Governor Foss, the latter will refer it to the Executive Council for consideration.

This confidence is based upon a conference which Mr. Morse had with Governor Foss over the Richeson case at the State House yesterday at which Mr. Morse informed the Governor that he would positively present a petition for commutation of Richeson's sentence.

The attorney told the Governor that the petition would be filed next month, and that soon afterward he would be ready to present his case at a hearing. Attorney John L. Lee of Virgina, who was associated with Mr. Morse as counsel for Richeson, will probably come to Boston from the South at the time the petition is filed, and he will assist Mr. Morse in suing for executive clemency.

The hearing before the Governor and his executive council will attract widespread attention. It is expected that several days will have to be given to the matter, as many widely known lawyers and jurists have expressed a desire to be heard on the matter.

Mr. Morse said that, contrary to the impression prevailing in the community, Richeson's family is absolutely with him and every effort will be made to bring about a commutation of the death sentence. Richeson's brother is reported to be a wealthy business man, and it is expected he will furnish the means to carry on the fight.

"Richeson himself is in a very distraught frame of mind," his counsel said.

Attorney Morse said further that the petition for commutation which he is preparing for presentation to Governor Foss will not be based on any specific plea, but rather on all the features of the case.

For the most absorbingly interesting story on the Richeson case ever printed see Sunday's AMERICAN. Is the former slayer of Avis Linnell repentant? How does he await his coming execution—with fear or is he calm, untroubled? These are some of the questions which this story will answer and in Richeson's own words. This great story will be in Sunday's AMERICAN exclusively.

Revere Election Contest Now a Tie

Judge's Opinion Makes Brown and Hartung Even, Though Court Has Not Decided Case.

Dr. Edison W. Brown, defeated for Selectman of Revere by Bruno Hartung by one vote (282 to 283), gains at least one more ballot by the decision of Judge Hammond in the Supreme Judicial Court today, and the vote is tied.

Dr. Brown petitioned for a writ to compel the Revere registrars to disregard two votes they counted for Hartung.

Then the registrars objected to two ballots. One has a completed cross through the names of candidates, including Brown's. The court was satisfied the ballot was intended as a vote for the names crossed and not as a cancellation and this decision gave Brown one more vote. Judge Hammond has taken the other ballots, with the challenged ballot of Fred T. Boynton, under consideration.

Chinese Women Go Window-Smashing

"Give Us Votes" They Cry in Assembly, as Scared Members Tremble Under Chairs.

SHANGHAI, March 22—Imitating their occidental sisters, Chinese suffragettes went on a window smashing campaign here today, beat Chinese policemen and had a large part of the city frightened before they were subdued. The women stormed the assembly hall crying, "Give us votes."

The demonstration was planned as a protest against the academic resolution favoring women's suffrage. The women gained admittance to the assembly chamber without difficulty. They stopped the wheels of legislation entirely while members cowered under their seats.

Shrill screams of "Give us votes" rang through the building, drowning all other sounds. The women were expelled at last by soldiers and business was not resumed in the chamber until a strong guard was placed about the building.

TEST WIRELESS FOR TRAIN DISPATCHING

PITTSBURG, March 22.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is testing wireless telegraphy in the dispatching of trains on the main line between Philadelphia and Harrisburg. Between Altoona and Harrisburg a continuous wireless system is being maintained. A partial test of the system has proved successful.

KNOX AND PARTY DUE IN VENEZUELA TODAY

LAGUAIRA, Venezuela, March 22.—The United States cruiser Washington, with Secretary Knox and party on board, will arrive here, late today and the Americans will go at once to Caracas by rail.

HUSBAND SUES W. H. BLODGET

WORCESTER, March 22.—Walter H. Blodget, twice Mayor of the city, leading business man, active church member, former Sunday school superintendent and Y. M. C. A. director, was served with papers in an action by Charles G. Gundstrom of Brockton. The case is said to be based on alleged attentions of Mr. Blodget to Mrs. Gundstrom. The husband put an attachment of $50,000 on Mr. Blodget's property. The case is returnable the first Monday in May in Suffolk County.

News of the suit filed by Mr. Gundstrom was a surprise to the associates of Mr. Blodget in business, civic and religious life.

The ex-Mayor has a son, Walter H. Blodget, Jr., by his first wife. He has a second wife and four other children.

Mr. Blodget is a member of the Worcester Board of Trade, which he serevd as president for two years, 1902-3; a member of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, and has served as vice-president of the State Board of Trade. He is registered in Washington as a lecturer of the Farmers' Institute and has served on the advisory board of the Philadelphia Museum.

He was one of the founders of the Adams Square Congregational Church and has served as its Sunday school superintendent, and has been a director of the local Y. M. C. A. for several years. He was Mayor of Worcester in 1903-4, and would have run for a third term had not ill health compelled him to retire.

STRUCK BY SOUTH BOSTON STREET CAR

Joseph Foley, fifty-eight years old and single, and living at No. 89 B street, South Boston, was struck by an electric car opposite No 141 West Broadway just before 9 a. m. today. He evidently did not see or hear the car and stepped in front of it. He was carried to Station 6 by the conductor and motorman. A doctor found that he was suffering from three lacerations on the forehead and a sprained right knee. The injured man was able to return home with his sister.

MAYOR HELPING FOR BETTER TRANSFERS

At the request of educational and business institutions in the Back Bay, Mayor Fitzgerald today urged the Boston Elevated to improve the transfer service at the Huntington-Massachusetts avenue station. The petitioners for the improvement claim that they are obliged to wait unnecessary periods at the transfer point because of a distinction which the company makes in the cars of division 2 and 9.

INNOCENT, SAID MRS. HEIMS IN A LETTER

Wife of Royal Dentist Asked Reconciliation and Begged for Forgiveness—Love Suit Is Near Close

The taking of evidence in the suit for divorce brought by Dr. Henry Francis Heims and his wife, Mrs. Irma Blanche Heims, against each other came to an end this afternoon before Judge Quinn in the Suffolk County Divorce Court and lawyers for the two made their final arguments to the court.

Mrs. Heims was on the stand most of the day, though Dr. Heims was recalled.

Here are some of the interesting points in the testimony offered.

Mrs. Heims' letters were read, in which Mrs. Heims admitted to her husband that she had made mistakes and was sorry for them.

Mrs. Heims testified that her mother was always opposed to her marrying Dr. Heims.

In another letter to her husband Mrs. Heims wrote:

"Before God, there was no moral wrong."

Mrs. Heims admitted that she left behind dressmaking bills in Florence and that she was obliged to pawn a ring and some silverware.

Dr. Heims testified that he was forced to have a separate room because his wife kept the gas burning all the time, especially after she had come from entertainments.

Mrs. Heims said that her husband made $10,000 a year out of his dental practice in Italy, and that he charged $10 an hour.

The letter asking for a reconsideration was dated "May 8, Sunday a. m., New York. There was no year date. It was read in fragments by Attorney George E. Perkins, counsel for Dr. Heims, who offered it among a batch of a dozen or more of exhibits, the introduction of which as evidence caused a series of debates. Attorney Perkins read as follows from this letter:

> My Dear Henry—I admit frankly that I made many mistakes, and I am deeply sorry for them. You know what influence was brought to bear ever since our marriage by a member of the family, and how hard I fought against it.

Reads from Letter.

"The letter goes on," said Attorney Perkins, "concerning a request for reconciliation and makes further reference to this person in the family, and continues:

"Before my God, there was no moral wrong!"

"I don't suppose that such a letter has anything to do with charges of intoxication," broke in Attorney Jacobs, counsel for Mrs. Heims.

"I am reading certain portions," replied Attorney Perkins, "because I am complying with the court's wishes.'

The letter continues:

> I beg your forgiveness, and if you can see your way clear, I wish you would take me back and I promise to atone for any wrong that I may have done you. It is my fervent wish that the person who has wronged you and me may be made to atone for what they have done.

When Attorney Perkins finished here Attorney Jacobs insisted that it was unfair to require Mrs. Heims to have only portions of the letters to go in.

"The other side has offered these let-

MRS. HEIMS ANGERED BY POINTED QUESTIONS IN DIVORCE TRIAL

"I DON'T CARE WHAT THEY ASK ME, BUT SPARE MY MOTHER," SHE SAYS.

ters in the first place," said counsel for the wife, "and now I insist that they go in as a whole and not in part, and if they don't go in in their entirety they should not be offered at all."

"Do you object to having only parts go in?" asked Judge Quinn.

"I do, most certainly," replied Attorney Jacobs.

"Then you may read the whole of the letter," said Judge Quinn.

Impound the Letters.

"But they are very long," suggested Attorney Perkins, "and time will be saved by reading only the essential parts."

"I agree with counsel," said Judge Quinn, "but as Mr. Jacobs objects to portions, he may read the whole letter."

Mr. Jacobs then took the letter from Attorney Jacobs and started to read the whole of it aloud. He had gone only as far as the first paragraph when another whispered conference was held by the counsel, and it was decided to impound this and other letters without reading them, so long as they had been passed upon by court and counsel.

The court room today was jammed. Scores of persons, mainly women, could not get in. Mrs. Heims, dressed in brown and looking calm and confident, reached the court house early. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Wright of Ohio. They sat in the corridor.

Dr. Heims sauntered into the building. He walked along the corridor where his wife and mother-in-law sat. He got a glimpse of them and, turning abruptly, went away. He got into the court room by another entrance.

Mrs. Heims was still smarting over her cross-examination, which began before adjournment yesterday.

Mrs. Heims Angry.

"I don't mind what they ask me, but they might spare my mother," said Mrs. Heims before court opened. "However, I suppose that is the penalty of litigation and especially of a divorce proceeding.

"Yes," interrupted her mother, "but I think the Boston newspapermen have been most kind and considerate. Of course, when a case like this is aired in court it is necessary to publish the details, but then it is hard on the parties, nevertheless.

"My husband was a newspaper reporter while at college and before he entered the bar of Ohio."

Mrs. Heims was questioned by her lawyer when she took the stand:

Q.—In what year did Dr. Heims' attitude toward you change? A.—In 1904, the year that my father died.

Q.—What brought about the change? A.—I received a cable about the death of my father. I got it at the breakfast table. I broke down and cried. Dr. Heims asked how much father had left me. I told him that I took no interest in that. I gave no thought to the money.

Q.—Was there any further talk about money? A.—Yes, many times. He spoke of it in Paris. The doctor tried to make me promise to give him half of what my father left me.

Q.—You heard the testimony of your husband's nephew, Oscar Simmons. Will you say why he was sent home? A.—He neglected his studies and stayed out late at night. He smoked cigarettes and at times acted strangely.

Letters Introduced.

Lawyer George F. Perkins, attorney for Dr. Heims took the witness for cross-examination. There was a large pile of letters on the table. Mr. Perkins took them up one at a time and handed them to Mrs. Heims for identification. He asked her if she wrote the letters. She usually said:

"It looks like my handwriting."

Once she said the writing looked too "scrawly" for hers.

She was excused temporarily to permit Dr. Heims to take the stand to attempt to identify a dozen or more of letters as those written by his wife.

"Some of her writing was scrawled," testified Dr. Heims.

"It depended upon what kind of pen she may have used."

Mrs. Heims made denial after denial to the allegations of her husband, especially in relation to over-indulgence in wine and undue friendship with Arturo Targioni, a wealthy young Italian in Florence.

Retorts to Questioner.

While drinking was being discussed Attorney Perkins said to Mrs. Heims:

"I will ask you frankly—Is your mother a drinking woman?"

Mrs. Heims' mother, Mrs. Homer W. Wright, was present. This question, in her mother's very presence, roused Mrs. Heims from her normal self-possession. She retorted to the cross-examiner:

"The idea—look at her face and find out for yourself. Certainly she is not and any man who would ask such a question is——"

Then Judge Quinn intervened and this line of questioning was shifted.

Incidents like these affected Mrs. Heims, but when she appeared before the curious eyes of spectators today she was the collected, self-assured woman of the first days of the trial.

There were a number of Italians and musical folk in the room to hear the tales of society life in Florence, Italy, that were told on the stand. One representative of an Italian newspaper covers the trial.

Heims' Sister on Stand.

Mrs. Annette Simmons of Chelsea, sister of Dr. Heims, identified letters among the exhibits as some that had been written to her by Mrs. Heims. She was positive of the handwriting.

To contradict Mrs. Heims' testimony that she did not hear from or communicate with her husband for seven weeks, Attorney Perkins read one paragraph from a letter written by Mrs. Heims to Dr. Heims from Logan, O., March 14, 1910, which was shortly after her arrival from Europe. The passage read:

> My Dear Husband:
> No doubt you have wondered over my delay. I sent a cable seventeen days ago. I am writing now with difficulty because I am very ill.

The next exhibit he picked up he declined to read, although Attorney Jacobs, after reading it insisted that it be read in full.

"I merely wish to show by this letter," explained Attorney Perkins, "that Mrs. Heims wrote to her husband begging him to write."

"Read Letter in Full."

"If you don't read that letter in full I shall," exclaimed counsel for Mrs. Heims. "It should be offered."

"It is already in evidence," said Attorney Perkins. "All I wish to show by this letter is that Mrs. Heims cabled to her husband the day after she reached New York."

This was believed to be to show a contradiction of Mrs. Heims' assertion that her husband shipped her back to America bag-and-baggage, peremptorily.

The friction over the admissibility of the letters caused counsel to hold a whispered conference at the bench. At its close Attorney Jacobs shouted: "I think that in justice to Mrs. Heims, all or none of this or the other letters should be read, and I insist upon it."

Attorney Perkins read excerpts from a letter dated "May 8, Sunday a. m., New York," as quoted above.

Mrs. Heims, cross-examined by Mr. Perkins, counsel for Dr. Heims, regarding the depositions of her servants as to intoxication at Florence, Italy, replied that all charges were false.

She denied that she was ever intoxicated in Florence; that she ever rode in a donkey cart in the early morning hours; that she was ever in a Bohemian restaurant. She said her chauffeur never brought her home in an automobile with a man.

Denies Maid's Story.

She said that the deposition of her maid in which she said that she had been called at 1 o'clock in the morning to bring wine to her mistress' room was not true.

She was questioned regarding her testimony about the trip to America in 1910. She said that her husband purchased her the passage ticket, but that he only gave her enough money to bring her to America.

Q.—Did he pay for the extras, such as the tips, etc? A.—No. It was not necessary to pay tips on the steamer.

Q.—How much did he give you—was it $10? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Was it $20? A.—Maybe.

Q.—Was it $90? A.—Oh, no.

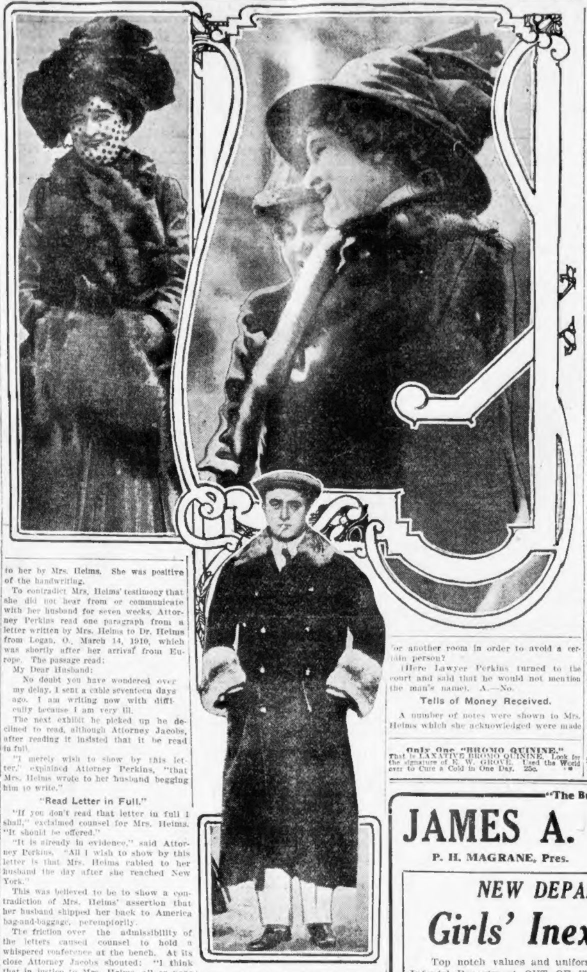
Q.—Did you pay $20 for another stateroom on that steamer? A.—No.

Q.—Didn't you say in a letter to your husband that you had to pay 100 francs for another room in order to avoid a certain person?

(Here Lawyer Perkins turned to the court and said that he would not mention the man's name). A.—No.

Tells of Money Received.

A number of notes were shown to Mrs. Heims which she acknowledged were made by her and that she had received the money in New York after she arrived there from Florence. She said she got over $2,000. The notes were for various amounts and ranged from $75 up to $1,000. The money was borrowed from Mrs. Jewell of No. 81 East Seventy-Eighth street, New York city, and all of the notes were made payable to Mrs. Jewel three months from the date of their making.



Two poses of Mrs. Irma Heims and photograph of Arturo Targioni, whom husband put out of house at Florence, Italy.

MRS. HEIMS DECLARES NEPHEW WAS SENT HOME FOR NEGLECTING STUDIES.

Mrs. Heims was asked what she meant in the letter dated March 8 in which she was laboring under the influence of "one of my family." Lawyer Perkins insisted on knowing what she meant by that phrase.

"I meant my mother was always opposed to my marriage to Dr. Heims, and nothing else," she said.

Asked if she got any money after arriving in New York, she said that she did.

Q.—Did you get any money from Dr. Heims or from Mrs. Simmons in his behalf? A.—I can't remember.

Q.—You did get $40? A.—Oh, that—yes—I got it.

Mrs. Heims denied vigorously her husband's accusations that she had been in the habit of indulging in intoxicants. She declared that she had never tasted a cocktail. "What are they?" she asked her husband's attorney—who declared he was unable to inform her.

Denies Ride in Cart.

She denied the ride through the bright dawn of a Spring day in Italy, clothed only in a nightdress and a mackintosh, which it was asserted she had taken to find Arturo Targioni, the son of an Italian deputy, with whom her husband claims she was too friendly.

She denied tippling with officers and male passengers on an ocean liner.

She denied topping off pink teas with champagne.

She denied flirting with Targioni.

She denied that she acted "outrageously" with Arturo in her husband's limousine or permitted him to kiss her jeweled hand.

She denied with pretty emphasis that she was ever intoxicated or ever used any sort of liquor and almost in the same breath asserted that the wines she did "sip in moderation" were all of the Italian table variety which could be bought for "$6 a large barrel" instead of the high-priced vintages described by her handsome young nephew by marriage.

Mrs. Heims, who has met her husband's plea for separation, based on alleged gross habits of intoxication and infidelity, with a retaliatory libel for divorce for cruel and abusive treatment, began her direct testimony about an hour before adjournment and finished it in thirty minutes, after which she was taken in hand by counsel for her husband, who subjected her to a scathing quizzing. She will resume her cross-examination when court convenes today.

Mrs. Heims, tall and self-possessed, whose voice and beauty made her a leader in Florentine society while her husband, Dr. Henry Francis Heims was a dentist to the court of King Emmanuel of Italy, denied in toto the charges made by her husband and his nephew concerning her alleged high-jink escapades and Italian society, her alleged confirmed habits of intoxication and the bedroom incident when she was charged with struggling with Dr. Heims for the possession of a pistol to kill herself.

Several times Mrs. Heims was on the verge of breaking down in spite of a strong mastery of her emotions developed by her experience as a concert and church soloist before and after marriage.

Her nearest approach to tears was when Attorney Perkins peppered her with questions about her first marriage and demanded hotly that she tell the court what name she was going under while Dr. Heims courted her.

"Why, my own name, of course," replied Mrs. Heims with mingled defiance and indignation.

"This is no place to be dramatic," shouted Attorney George F. Perkins. "I want to know your name.

"The witness should not be subjected to criticism," cautioned Judge Quinn.

"Will you tell us what name you used?" again asked counsel.

"Why my own name—Irma Blanche Campbell." (Her first husband was Donald Campbell of Columbus, O.)

"Didn't you go under your maiden name Wright? "No."

Q.—then you have appeared and testified in a case like this before? A.—Never in a case like this.

Q.—Well, a case similar to this. A.—Never in a case similar to this even.

Q.—In a divorce case then. You are a lawyer's daughter and understand what I mean by a divorce case? A.—Yes I figured in a divorce case.

Q.—When were you divorced from your first husband? A.—I don't recall the year.

Q.—Don't recall the year of your divorce? A.—No.

Q.—Wasn't it after you met Dr. Heims. A.—It may have been.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'MILLE

Enlarged pores, dark and discolored patches and similar blemishes of the complexion disappear in a week or ten days if a solution made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half pint of witch hazel is rubbed on the face, neck and arms each morning. This is a true complexion beautifier and should be used regularly instead of powder or other cosmetic. It preserves youthful charms and keeps the skin soft, smooth and white.

Dry shampooing keeps the hair soft, wavy and richly lustrous. Too much water streaks and fades the hair and makes it dry and brittle. To make a shampoo powder, put a cupful of cornmeal in a fruit jar and mix with it a small original package of therox. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush it out thoroughly. The powder comes out easily and takes all dirt, dandruff and excess oil with it.

To remove superfluous hairs from face or forearms simply apply delatone paste. Mix enough powdered delatone with water to cover the hairs; apply and after two or three minutes wipe off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone. This treatment is safe, speedy and sure.

Colds, catarrh and ordinary cases of sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck and asthma yield quickly to applications of Mother's Salve, rubbed in well before retiring. The world never saw its equal as a household remedy. It gives almost instant relief from aches, pains and sores.

FORMER MAYOR IN WEIL CASE

Former Mayor Rudolphus W. Purdum of Nampa, Idaho, was called to the stand by the government when the trial of Victor M. Weil, who is charged with using the mails fraudulently, was resumed in the United States District Court today. He was on the stand the greater part of the morning session and testified regarding his business relations with the defendant.

Ex-Mayor Purdum said he met Mr. and Mrs. Weil in 1902 when they were on a road leading to Thunder Mountain in Idaho and took them to ride in his buggy. At that time Weil was in the mining business near Roosevelt, Idaho.

Early in 1907 he became interested with Weil in the latter's mining ventures at Goldfield, Nevada. At this point in his testimony Assistant United States District Attorney Garland asked:

"You were mayor of a city at one time, weren't you?"

Attorney John P. Feeney, counsel for Weil, started to object, but changed his mind and said, "Never mind, go ahead. I was unfortunate once myself." Attorney Feeney was formerly Mayor of Woburn.

"So was I," was the rejoinder of the witness.

Continuing his testimony ex-Mayor Purdum said that while he was in Boston from February to July in 1907 he was in Weil's office at No. 7 Water street nearly every day and that he and Weil signed an agreement whereby Purdum was to manage the Goldfield-Boston Consolidated Mining Company for two years for a block of stock in the company of 40,000 shares.

Weil, according to the witness, explained he had a man named Tom Little at Goldfield who was not taking good care of the property and for that reason wanted the ex-Mayor to go out there and look after Purdum testified that he left Boston for the West, but upon his first trip was unable to find the property. He returned a second time in the company of a man by the name of Gus Nelson, who pointed out to him the quarters of the Bright Star and the Evening Star claims.

Huge New Cunarder Laconia Arrives

Sister of Franconia for Hub Service

Biggest Liner Ever Built on Tyne Except Mauritania, on First Trip to Boston.

Boston gained another new, big transatlantic liner today when the Cunarder Laconia, sister ship of the Franconia, arrived here from New York to go on the Boston-Liverpool service.

The Laconia replaces the Ivernia, an older, smaller and slower boat.

The Ivernia has been alternating with the Franconia on the Liverpool schedule. Now this schedule will be served by the Franconia and Laconia, which are seven-day boats.

Except for the difference in names and a slight difference in interior furnishings, the Laconia is practically the same as the Franconia.

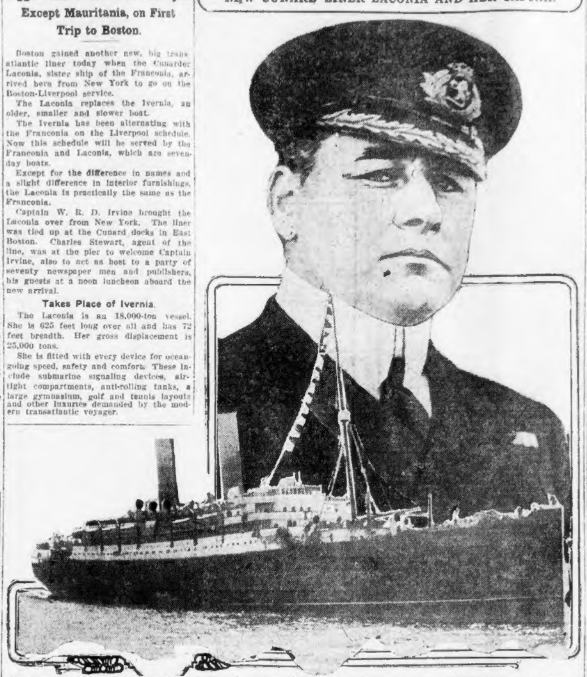
Captain W. R. D. Irvine brought the Laconia over from New York. The liner was tied up at the Cunard docks in East Boston. Charles Stewart, agent of the line, was at the pier to welcome Captain Irvine, also to act as host to a party of seventy newspaper men and publishers, his guests at a noon luncheon aboard the new arrival.

Takes Place of Ivernia.

The Laconia is an 18,000-ton vessel. She is 625 feet long over all and has 72 feet breadth. Her gross displacement is 25,000 tons.

She is fitted with every device for ocean-going speed, safety and comfort. These include submarine signaling devices, air-tight compartments, anti-rolling tanks, a large gymnasium, golf and tennis layouts and other luxuries demanded by the modern transatlantic voyager.

NEW CUNARD LINER LACONIA AND HER CAPTAIN



The Laconia's commander is Captain W. R. D. Irvine. These pictures were taken today by an AMERICAN photographer.

The Laconia was built at Wallsend-on-Tyne, England, the largest steamship ever constructed on the Tyne except the Mauretania. She left Liverpool January 20 for New York, sailed from New York February 3 to the Mediterranean and arrived back in New York last Saturday. Then she was transferred to Boston, to take the place of the Ivernia, which goes on the New York-Mediterranean service.

Sails on Tuesday.

No passengers came over on the short run from New York except a boy and girl, Christopher and Mary Graham, sixteen and fourteen years old. They are the children of Purser Graham of the Carmania. They started on the Laconia when she was put in commission at Liverpool January 20 and have been aboard her ever since, in the care of Purser G. D. Roberts. When they arrive in Liverpool on the next trip of the Laconia they will have traveled 20,000 miles in the new liner

The Laconia will sail Tuesday for Liverpool, making the first trip on her new Boston-Liverpool schedule.

The arrival of the Laconia here marks another improvement in Boston transatlantic service for the coming season.

The White Star line is to add a third boat to its Boston-Liverpool Summer service. It is operating the Megantic and Cymric on this run now. This Summer it will use the Cymric, Arabic and Majestic, transferring the Megantic to Montreal.

The Allan line plans to increase its Boston-Glasgow-Londonderry service when the Summer travel sets in.

CHAMBER MAILS CANAL PROTEST

Strong opposition to ownership by transcontinental railroads of steamship companies doing business through the Panama Canal is voiced by the Boston Chamber of Commerce in a letter which is being sent to the Representatives and Congressmen from the New England States today.

The Chamber points out that the operation of railroad-owned ships through the canal would be used to stifle and kill all the principal independent competition, and states that this would have important bearing upon the industrial welfare of New England.

There are several bills now before Congress intended to prevent transcontinental railroads from operating such steamship companies. The Transportation Committee says in its report, which has been approved by the Board of Directors of the Chamber, that it has been informed that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company are keeping high officials constantly in Washington, for the purpose of keeping in constant touch with senators and representatives on this subject. On the other hand there are representatives from the Pacific Coast and from some of the Gulf States, who are strongly favoring the legislation. The report says:

"There are now only three lines operating on the Pacific and Atlantic in connection with railroads across the Isthmus. One of these, the Pacific Mail, is a Southern Pacific interest. Another one operates on the Pacific only, and runs in connection with the government boats operated between New York and Colon for the purpose of hauling canal supplies.

"The third line is the American-Hawaiian Line, which has been of great value to the trade between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, but has been quite arbitrary in its methods and is charged with having a tendency of always meeting with the transcontinental lines and basing its rates on those made by the transcontinental lines.

"While the legislation seemed radical, Mr. Ives discussed it with conservative men of high position in Washington and found most of them who have studied the transportation question to be heartily in favor of some legislation to restrict the operation of railroad-owned ships through the canal."

CHARITY SALE AT VANDERBILT'S

NEW YORK, March 22.—There have been many notable sales for charity in New York, but none with more attractive offerings or more beautiful surroundings than that in the home of Mrs. Vanderbilt at Fifth avenue and Fifty-eighth street.

It was an exhibition and sale of lace made by Indian women employed in the various shops of the Sybil Carter Mission and Lace Association in this and other States. A thousand women came to buy and admire.

The lace itself would attract any eye with an appreciation of the really artistic, and the fact it was for sale in the home of Mrs. Vanderbilt, which never before had been thrown open to the public, drew many hundreds of the merely curious.

Those who went only to see were impelled by the handiwork of the Indian women to buy at prices that fitted a purse of any size, and the result was an amount of money that delighted the women who made possible the unusual combination of circumstances.

While the sale was confined to the ballroom, all the rooms of the first floor, including the series of Louis Quinze salons facing Fifth avenue; the lofty hall of carved cach stone, with the circular stone staircase and mezzanine balconies; the picture gallery and the Moorish room were open to all.

In each of the rooms were guards, silent but ever watchful.

Ireland Wins War with Nova Scotia

Milkmen Settle International Affair in Street and Both Land in Court.

An argument between two milkmen, Herman F. Wilson and Edward A. Collins, as to the relative merits of Nova Scotia and Ireland, precipitated a street fight, which had its climax before Judge Fallon in the South Boston District Court, when they were both fined $5. Ireland won the fight.

The two belligerent gentlemen had dropped into a restaurant in Flood square for a bite to eat. The conversation turned to the discussion of their native countries. Wilson contended that Nova Scotia was the best on earth, while Collins averred that there was no place like old Ireland. The argument waxed warm and Wilson invited Collins out into the street. Collins assented, and a few moments later when an officer took a hand, Ireland had triumphed and was mussing Nova Scotia up terribly.

ASKS CLEANING UP IN DORCHESTER BAY

The Legislative Committee on Harbors and Public Lands today reported in the House an order requiring the Directors of the Port and the State Board of Health jointly to investigate the practicability and advisability and estimate the cost of improving the shores of Dorchester Bay to do away with the dump and flats in the bend of the Strandway between South Boston and the pastures. The same committee also wishes improvement of the bathing facilities at Savin Hill Beach, Dorchester Bay, looked into.

SISTER ACCUSES CRAWFORD GIRL

NEW ORLEANS, March 22.—Annie Crawford, on trial for the alleged murder of her sister Elsie, was also accused of forgery by Gertrude Crawford, another sister, in court.

In an effort to show motive for the alleged murder the prosecution introduced Gertrude, eighteen years of age, who said Annie forged her name to a check for $50 and got the money, and that Annie, using checks the witness had signed in blank, drew from the bank all but $17 of the $131 she had deposited. Gertrude said she made the discovery after her sister had been accused of murder.

A bank representative also testified that Gertrude's account was exhausted about the time her sister Elsie died of poisoning.

The prosecution introduced in evidence the defendant's statement that she gave her sister three half-grain morphine tablets by mistake.

Parisian Fashion Tyranny Renounced

Five Hundred Dress Designers at New York Declare Their Independence.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Five hundred men and women designers of fashion met here today and discussed what to do to carry out their declaration of independence from Paris and everything Parisian.

The convention, that of the Ladies' Cloak and Suit Designers' Association of America, unanimously adopted such a declaration after it had listened to addresses in which it was contended that American manufacturers and their designers had too long depended on Paris for their fashions, and had now become convinced that America could take care of itself as far as garment making was concerned.

"In taking this step," said a member, "the association is acting as a trade George Washington in throwing off the yoke of Parisian dependence."

The association appointed a committee to decide upon the proper length of garments for the coming season.

GERMAN WARSHIPS TO REPAY VISIT

BERLIN, March 22.—It is now definitely decided that the new armored cruiser, Moltke, accompanied by a smaller cruiser, will cross the ocean in June and join forces with the cruiser Bremen of Germany's Western Atlantic station for the purpose of repaying in New York and other ports the American fleet's visit to Germany in 1911. Prince Adalbert will not participate in the cruise. The Moltke is a thirty-knot vessel, the fastest in the Kaiser's navy.

ACTOR'S WIFE GETS CLEVELAND DIVORCE

CLEVELAND, O., March 22.—Mrs. Agnes Louise Rodgers-Armstrong, widow of Michael Rodgers, purchasing agent for the Nickel Plate Road, has been divorced from John A. Armstrong, her actor husband, by Judge Ford of the Common Pleas Court. The former Cleveland society leader is now living in New York, where her first husband died about ten years ago. Armstrong, who is known on the stage as John Junior, and is now playing in New York, did not appear, but was represented by counsel.

TO END COMPANY AFTER 98 YEARS

The Boston & Roxbury Mill Corporation, which was incorporated in 1814, by a special act of the Legislature, to fill in and develop what is now the Back Bay section of the city, came before Judge Hammond of the Supreme Court today with a petition for dissolution.

This corporation has an old and interesting history. It is not only one of the veteran companies of the State, but it was a pioneer in "made land" work which has since developed millions of dollars' worth of realty.

Judge Bennett of Boston Municipal court, clerk of the Corporation, read the stockholders' vote authorizing the petition for dissolution. Henry S. Bridge, first clerk in the State Treasurer's office, testified regarding a bond and mortgage the company gave the State in '54 to bind a contract by which the company was to get a 200-foot strip of land "north of the Mill Dam." That 200-foot strip is now part of the "water side of Beacon street," a leading residential district of Boston.

Francis C. Welch, treasurer of this venerable company, said the corporation has no debts except dividends on five shares of stock in the name of Thomas M. Lloyd, one of the original stockholders. The first Lloyd dividend was declared February 14, 1825. There have been 104 dividends in all, and the present officers have been unable to locate any claimant. The dividends total $2,375.

Judge Hammond intimated he might dissolve the corporation. The disposition of the century-old dividends will be left open for consideration.

MISS ANGLIN READY TO PAY BACK LOSS

NEW YORK, March 22.—The deposition of Thomas H. Williams, capitalist and former financial backer of theatrical enterprises, in the suit of Frank L. Perley, has just been filed in the county clerk's office. The deposition was taken in San Francisco, and it reveals Miss Margaret Anglin, the actress, as a self-sacrificing heroine in real life.

The testimony shows Miss Anglin was willing to abandon her starring career to accept $1,500 a week in vaudeville that she might pay back to Mr. Williams $1,000 a week until he received all of the $40,000 which he had lost on the play, "The Eternal Feminine," in which Miss Anglin was the leading woman. Williams says Miss Anglin made this offer in the presence of Perley, who formerly was the defendant's partner. Mr. Williams would not permit the sacrifice.

Cavalieri May Tell Secrets After All

Goes Out Motoring With J. P. Morgan And Thinks He's Fine Company.

ROME, March 22.—Though Lina Cavalieri told J. P. Morgan when they first met here that she would trust no man, not even him, with the secret of her youth and beauty, the financier and the prima donna are now very much acquainted.

The diva thinks that the financier is most excellent company and, if she hasn't disclosed the secret of her beauty yet, it is freely predicted that before either one leaves Rome, she will have given Mr. Morgan a fair idea of the manner in which she defies age and keeps young.

Mr. Morgan and the former wife of "Sheriff Bob" Chanler were seen motoring together and were engaged in animated conversation. Whether it was about youth and beauty no one could accurately define, but, no matter what it was, the financier seemed to be an attentive and interested listener.

APPROVED AIDS TO HEALTH AND BEAUTY

MAGIC BEAUTY-CREAM—Women who are not thoroughly satisfied with prepared cold creams can make an excellent greaseless cream by simply dissolving an ounce of almozoin in ½ pint of cold water and adding 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This cream clears and cleans the complexion splendidly and leaves it soft, smooth and fresh-looking. It is very fine for healing and preventing chapping.

FOR SALLOW SKIN—A sallow, pimply complexion comes from impure blood. This condition can best be overcome with a good, purifying system tonic. A good, old-fashioned tonic can be made by dissolving ½ cupful of sugar and 1 ounce of kardene in ½ pint of alcohol, then adding hot water to make a quart. A tablespoonful taken before meals will purify the blood, clear the complexion and bring back the glowing look of health to the face. This tonic restores lost appetite and is a great energizer.

THIN, STUBBY EYELASHES—Each night apply pyroxin to lash-roots with thumb and forefinger and they will come in thick and long. Straggly eyebrows can be made to grow thick and silky if you rub pyroxin on with finger-end. Don't get any pyroxin where hair is not wanted.

GENUINE HAIR-TONIC—The disappointment of using bottle after bottle of costly hair-tonics and still finding our itching scalps laden with dandruff and our hair getting gradually thinner must yield to the following simple remedy: In ½ pint of alcohol dissolve 1 ounce of quinzoin, then add ½ pint of cold water. Rubbing this into the scalp twice a week, dandruff and scalp irritation disappear as if by magic and the hair stops falling, quickly taking on a healthy, growing condition.

FOR WEAK EYES—One whose eyes are weak, inflamed or watery will find prompt relief by putting into each eye twice daily a few drops of a tonic made by dissolving an ounce of crystos in a pint of water. This remedy is very soothing to tired, smarting eyes and quickly remedies granulated lids. It makes the eyes bright, clear and sparkling.

OUST COUNTRY CLUB MANAGER

Members of the Brookline Country Club today discussed the strange request for his resignation handed to Charles E. Russell, for thirteen years superintendent of the club. Mr. Russell himself is at a loss to account for the change in management.

Francis M. Ware of New York has been secured to manage the club. The new manager is widely known, having been for seventeen years manager of the American Horse Exchange, New York. In the past he has managed the Boston Horse Shows and has been the starter at a number of the Country Club race meets.

Herbert Jaques, president of the club, said:

"Mr. Russell's resignation does not mean that we do not appreciate his work with the club for so many years. For some time we have been debating the question of following the scheme of many of the large clubs here and abroad, that is to having a member of the club as manager. Mr. Ware was elected a member of the club last week, and he has had a wide experience in the field which he is to take charge of with us. Mr. Russell has done a great deal of good work while in charge of the club."

MRS. BEATRICE OTTO, BOSTON ARTIST WHO HAS LEFT HUSBAND

BEATRICE FARNHAM

With four days of mourning, as though for a dead friend or relative, the romance of John Otto, a Colorado trail builder, and Beatrice Farnham Otto, the Boston artist, is to end. This is the announcement of Otto himself in a letter to the papers in Colorado, told in dispatches today.

The romantic marriage of the two, on the top of Independence Peak last June, interested Boston friends of the artist. They were married before an altar hewed out of the solid rock on the mountain top. For a brief space, during the honeymoon, they were happy. But Mrs. Otto left Grand Junction immediately afterwards and now her husband announces that she will not return.

He says that they do not believe in marriage nor in the divorce courts, but used both because they wished to obey the laws. He says that a divorce will be secured on the ground of "desertion for business reasons."

But the real divorce ceremony will be as unique as their marriage among the mountain canyons. Black ribbons will be tied around the necks of his burros, his horses and his dogs, and after four days' mourning are to be burned and the ashes scattered to the four winds.

In his letter Otto unfolds his heart's tragedy:

DR. ANNA SHAW CRIES "OH! FOR A QUEUE!"

NEW YORK, March 22.—"How I wish I had a queue," exclaimed Dr. Anna Shaw, the famous suffrage advocate, upon learning today that the women of China will probably get the ballot.

To Relieve Rheumatism Take Eimer & AMEND'S N. Y. 2851. Its use is specially recommended by those who have tried it. T. Metcalf Co., Boston, carry it.

HUSBAND SUES 'TEDDY' GERARD

NEW YORK, March 22.—Close on the heels of the announcement that Mrs. Linda Belle Lee Thomas has begun divorce proceedings against Edward Russell Thomas, millionaire, whose career in Wall street and the white light zone ended in bankruptcy, comes the word that Theodora Gerard, named as chief co-respondent in the action, is defendant in a similar suit started by Joseph Raymond, theatrical man and magazine writer.

Through Frederick E. Goldsmith, an attorney, Raymond will ask Justice Gavegan, in the Supreme Court today, for permission to serve papers on Mrs. Gerard-Raymond by publication, a like step already having been taken in Mrs. Thomas's action.

Both E. R. Thomas, who, after his creditors took possession of his income of $180,000 a year, left to him by his father, has struggled along on $10,000 annually, and Theodora Gerard, once a show girl, known widely along Broadway, now a Paris vaudeville topliner, are abroad.

Few persons outside the "wisest" set of the great white way were aware that the show girl was married.

In his complaint Raymond states that Theodora Gerard's real name is Teresa Cabre, and that she is a native of the Argentine Republic. Her parents, however, came to this country and had a home in Weehawken. Theodora Gerard was nineteen years old, it appears, when Raymond, who then was in the illustration business engaged her as a model. She had ambitions toward a stage career, and Raymond got her into the chorus of a Broadway show.

On March 12, 1908, about five months after he first met her, the two were married in Newark, N. J. The same day the bride went to call on her parents who, Raymond said, shut the door of their house in his face and subsequently spirited his wife away to Beunos Ayres. Afterward Raymond said, the young woman went to France with her mother.

Altogether, the complaint reads, it was about six months before her husband saw Mrs. Raymond again. In the Summer of 1908, he found that she was with her parents in a cottage near Fort Lee, and forthwith he sought her and obtained her parent's blessing to the match they at first had refused to sanction.

Mrs. Raymond, however, continued to live with the elder Cabres until after she became a chorus girl in "Havana," which played in the Casino Theatre in the Spring and Summer of 1909. Then, Raymond alleges, a Wall Street banker furnished two floors of a house in Thirty-Fourth street, near Fifht avenue, for her inpalatial fashion and provided her with jewels, gowns and other perquisites to the value of $50,000.

It was in that apartment that the Gerard girl accused Bronson Howard, author and playwright, of attempting to stab her. Howard was arrested at the Casino's stage door and held in bail on a charge of felonious assault. When the woman went abroad the idictment against him was quashed and Howard frequently was seen in her company in Paris.

On June 12, 1910, she effected a reconciliation with Raymond to the extent of living with him here in the Hotel Calvert. He says he found her going about with other men, however, and so they remained together only six weeks.

THEODORA GERARD, NAMED IN DIVORCE, SUED BY HUSBAND

G. F. RICHARDSON OF LOWELL DEAD

LOWELL, March 22.—George F. Richardson, one of the oldest and best known attorneys in the State, died at his home on Nesmith street here early today. He was eighty-four years old. Mr. Richardson graduated from Harvard in 1850, and in 1858 began the practice of law in Lowell. He was president of the Common Council of the city in 1862, was on the Board of Aldermen in 1864, Mayor in 1867 and 1868, a State Senator in 1871 and 1872, making a brilliant record. He was a delegate to the convention that named Grant for President. For four years he had been a member of the school board, and trustee of the city library. He was city solicitor for years. April 19, 1861, he organized what was known as the "Richardson Light Infantry," later called the Seventh Massachusetts Battery of Light Artillery.

WINTER, SPRING, SUMMER CLOTHING ALL TOGETHER

The Henry Siegel Co. Meets the Latest Weather Conditions Tomorrow in Their Men's Store With a Proposition That Will Attract Thinking Men

BIG INVESTMENTS AT NINE SEVENTY-FIVE

BOSTON, March 22.—Yesterday all the weather sharps were taken off their feet by the sudden change, and, quite naturally, the merchants who are exploiting spring apparel also were taken aback, but in addition feel puzzled as to the proper course to pursue. Not so at the progressive and aggressive store of Henry Siegel Co.

No matter what preparations had been made, the order comes: "Meet the weather—meet the conditions—bring the people here Saturday—bring them in the morning."

It has been a sort of general impression, but in reality more of a superstition, that Boston folks do not like to shop on Saturday morning. We know better, and will prove it tomorrow by placing on sale about 880 garments at a wonderfully attractive price; in fact, it is more of a proposition for investment than a mere sale of clothing in that sense.

Winter weights in clothing at the present time are another superstition, particularly in suitings, as the weight per yard varies from 16 to 14 ounces. In olden times that was the standard for spring and summer weights; nowadays they manufacture men's clothing of fabrics weighing but 12 ounces or 11 ounces, and even less. For that reason our offering of winter-weight suits and even overcoats at this time is entirely seasonable for Boston and vicinity with its east winds and general unreliability of weather.

MEN'S SUITS, OVERCOATS, $9.75

There are about 200 suits, in nearly all the sizes from 35 to 44 breast, chiefly neat mixtures, a few plaids and quite a goodly number of herringbones and stripes, all of them conservative. The majority of the fabrics were made by the American Woolen Co., and since the recent strike such fabrics will not be duplicated in quality and price. Saturday morning you will pay $9.75 and take your pick of the 200 suits. Almost forgot to mention that there are some black velour Thibets, silk lined, among them. Probably two dozen, same price (Nine Seventy-five), but don't make your call too late in the day; there are some keen men reading this announcement today.

Just 140 winter overcoats; we call them so in order not to mislead you; but they will feel mighty comfortable until May in this climate. $9.75, any coat you like best. Remember, this is really an investment. Supposing you put $10 in the savings bank; you can only realize about 45 cents in a year. Now when you invest $9.75 in an overcoat tomorrow in The Men's Store, Third Floor, of the Henry Siegel Co., you will realize from 75% to 100% on your investment within seven months, as in October or November you will pay $18 to $20 for a coat anywhere near like it.

There will be Spring suits, including all the new "stunts" shown in the window displays around town at very fancy figures, but all you have to pay is $9.75 tomorrow, but please come in the morning, as the first shipment is somewhat limited.

SUMMER SUITS—COATS AND TROUSERS

Light colors of course, some even in tropical weights, sounds rather chilly on a snowy day, but you will want those suits after June—tomorrow $9.75. We hardly care to tell you what they were sold at originally (they are last year's).

We believe when you see these summer suits marked at $9.75, you'll say: "I'll have one."

We have rounded up 75 top coats and slip-on raincoats, they will go at $9.75 each. Some of the top coats are of the Chesterfield type, black unfinished worsteds and Oxford mixtures, set off by silk facings to the outer edge. Can you imagine the coat by this description? Now think of the price for tomorrow, $9.75—yes, we repeat, Nine Seventy-five. But again the caution, come in the morning.

About 300 pairs men's trousers have become persona non grata, at least that is all the criticism that can be made about them. The price tomorrow morning will be $1.90, and if you weigh 200 lbs., or if you measure 6 ft. 3, or the very opposite, you'll be fitted, as the assortment is really fine. No earthly reason why they should be sold at this price, only it's good advertising for this Men's Store.

The hat man got very busy to be in line tomorrow. His programme is to have as many men as possible invest $1.00 on Saturday morning and get a new hat of such quality and general goodness that they will be talking about the Henry Siegel Co.'s Hat Store. The hat man is perfectly honest. He says: "I've got to do something out of the ordinary, being on the third floor." Well, $1.00 for the hats he showed us will create a sensation.

Fur-lined coats at the seashore or in the mountains may sound like a joke, but it is not. Anyone owning a machine knows that hardly any over-garment is too warm for the chauffeur or the man behind the wheel, particularly when riding at night. Every fur-lined coat will be on sale tomorrow morning at just a little above 1-3 the prices at which they were marked during the opening of the season last Novembe-.

BRING THE BOYS SATURDAY MORNING AND HAVE THEM PHOTOGRAPHED IN THEIR NEW SUIT OF CLOTHES

The Boys' Store on our third floor is becoming the objective point of the thrifty mothers of Greater Boston. There is always a reason when WOMAN moves in a certain direction, because she knows much better than MAN where the values are given.

To make it interesting for the boys and the parents—yes, and The Henry Siegel Co., the Boys' Store has arranged with the Siegel Studio to have every boy photographed in his new suit. A cabinet picture will be presented to the young American with our compliments and a copy will be retained in the Boys' Store for the B-U-S-C-O Gallery. There is absolutely no charge or obligation on the part of customer. The sitting can be taken at any time within ten days, convenient to the mother or boy. Whether the suit purchased is $12.00 or $5.55 or $3.00, it matters not. An order on the Siegel Studio will be issued to the boy and the photograph sent to him with our compliments. This new feature goes into effect tomorrow morning, Saturday, March 23, beginning at 8:30 A. M. and closing at 12 noon. No photograph orders will be issued after 12 noon. We are perfectly plain about it, we invite you to come in the morning and bring the boy with you. Morning hours are the golden hours of opportunity.

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY "SIEGEL STANDARD" CLOTHES

We ask your judgment—see the garments, the fabrics, the general makeup and then ponder—the price $16.50 today—tomorrow—next month—next year—A Real Standard in Clothing.

FITZGERALD NOT TO RUN AGAIN

Mayor Fitzgerald will "never again" be a candidate for the office he now holds. He made the announcement at a meeting of the Greater Boston Mayors at the Intercolonial Club.

Speaking of the opposition of many cities and towns to the Metropolitan planning bill because the fear annexation to Boston, Mayor Fitzgerald said that he did not know whether it was annexation to Boston in the main or himself they feared. He said:

> I can assure them that they need not be afraid of me, for they won't catch me in office after the first Monday in February, 1914.
> If anybody who is Mayor of Boston for four years wants to go back, his wife or somebody else ought to have him looked after.

Besides Mayor Fitzgerald, the speakers were Mayor Hatfield of Newton, Mayor Duane of Waltham and Mayor Adams of Salem.

Mayor Hatfield said he was opposed to any plan for annexation to Boston, but favored any movement that tended toward unity for the common good.

Mayor Duane of Waltham declared himself as heartily in favor of the Metropolitan planning bill, but believed in home rule for Waltham.

Mayor Adams of Salem said that his city was not in the Metropolitan district but that it was ready to co-operate with the district.

Mayor Fitzgerald told of the benefits to be derived by the establishment of such a commission, and said that annexation was not sought.

Women Give Skin to Save Workman's Life

Fellow Workers in Lenox Factory Aid Man Badly Injured by Whirling Belt.

LENOX, March 22.—Fifty women joined in offering to allow skin to be taken from their arms or legs to use in skin-grafting in an effort to save the life of Patrick Toumey, twenty-three years of age, who was caught in the rag cutter belt at the Smith Paper Company's Columbia Mills here and was carried around the shafting several times and finally hurled from the shafting, striking the floor with such force that his right arm was broken in three places.

The women employes witnessed the accident and Mrs. Margaret Kennedy showed great presence of mind in quieting the hysterical women and in removing Toumey to a place away from the noise and confusion. A doctor was summoned and resorted to skin-grafting to stop the flow of blood. Every woman in the room offered skin from their arms or legs. It is believed their sacrifice will save Toumey's life.

MARGARET ISMAY WEDS IN LONDON

LONDON, March 22.—Miss Margaret Ismay, older daughter of Bruce Ismay, chairman of the White Star Line, was married in St. George's, Hanover square, to Captain Ronald Cheape, of the First Royal Dragoon Guards. Among the wedding presents were a table from the Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid and a silver inkstand and silver candlesticks from the White Star Line office staff in Liverpool.

MANY CHILDREN CALM IN BIG FIRE PANIC

NEW YORK, March 22.—Thirty families were thrown into panic today by a fire in the six-story tenement at No. 233 East Eleventh street. The halls quickly filled with smoke, and firemen had difficulty in rescuing some of the tenants, the most of whom fled to the roof. Hundreds of children were in Stanne's Parochial School and the Howard Mission for Little Wanderers nearby, but teachers and attendants kept them calm.

SHAW DUE HERE AT 6 TONIGHT

following Shaw's departure and a humorous vein of the false trail which the police were working on. A passage of the letter reads:

"I am in a funny position here, in that I am supposed to have been wronged and am the girl to be pitied."

Plans were also made for the departure of the writer to join Shaw in Los Angeles.

This letter was written in Boston, February 5, and was found in the possession of Shaw at the time of his arrest.

There are several other letters which were written after February 5 by the same person and these reached Los Angeles after Shaw had been arrested. All of these were turned over to Captain Armstrong and are said to contain material evidence for the government.

The contents relate to money matters, how and when the writer intended to join Shaw in California and the situation in Boston. Certain portions of these letters are couched in affectionate terms.

Mr. Shaw was introduced to the AMERICAN reporter who boarded the train at Rochester.

"From the Boston AMERICAN, well, I am glad to see you. I do not feel unkindly toward the AMERICAN for finding me—in fact, I am glad that I was awakened to the exact situation, for I must have been away off my course."

Shaw wore a dark mixed gray suit, a white shirt with black stripes and a low collar with a green tie. He seemed more quiet than usual, his heavy head of hair is grayer than when he left Freeport, and his closely cropped moustache is very gray. Shaw said that he had lost twenty pounds during the months that he has been locked up in Los Angeles.

"But I feel fine—especially since I am out in the open. This trip has been a breath of paradise to me after staying in a stone cell for four weeks.

"I am glad to get back to Boston and want a trial as soon as it can be arranged, for I wat to clear myself and show the public just who has been to blame.

"Both Mr. Armstrong and Mr. Gaddis have shown me evry consideration during the trip, and I cannot praise them enough."

Captain Armstrong said: "It is a good thing that he had the extradition papers, for I don't think we could have brought our man without them. Mr. Shaw had engaged Earl Rodgers as his counsel, and the first thing Rodgers asked to see were the papers. We have had a fine trip and Shaw seems anxious to get back."

Shaw ate a hearty breakfast with apparent relish. He ordered a meal of three soft boiled eggs, coffee and rolls and wheat cakes.

After the meal he retired to his stateroom, where he smoked his briar pipe and chatted with the officeres.

For a time Shaw was very cheerful, but when he looked out of the window as the train passed Utica, he said: "Well, well, this is Utica—Boston isn't far away now." And then as the distance to Boston grew less and less, the cheerfulness and bright look in the eyes diminished by degrees with every mile covered until by the time Albany was reached, Shaw appeared downcast and slightly nervous and talked very little.

Shaw will not talk about Mrs. Stuart other than to say:

"She is an old friend of mine and I am sorry that she is in trouble on my account."

Neither will he discuss his feelings toward Jacob W. Amick, his partner in the shoe business, but promises to reveal some startling conditions later.

A close study of Shaw reveals all of the shrewd characteristics which his friends said he possessed. His dark-brown eyes look straight into those of his questioners, but they never reveal the answer that lies beneath. When Shaw does not wish to answer a question he rests his elbow on the window sill and holds his head in his hand and either shades his eyes or looks out of the window.

Shaw will arrive in Boston shortly after 6 o'clock and will be taken to police headquarters and then to the Charles Street jail.

GIRLS TO BE IN PLAY TONIGHT IN ARLINGTON HALL

At the top is Miss Eleanor Hatch, who wrote the play, and will appear in the leading part. Below is Miss Rachel Tuttle, to have role of Mrs. Pierce.

"The Cub Reporter," a play in three acts, will be presented for the first time tonight in Cotting Hall in the Arlington High School building by the pupils of the school.

The play was written by Miss Eleanor Hatch of the senior class, who will play the leading part of Miss Mary Carter, "the poorhouse girl."

Harry Dadmun will be Richard Stewart, Jr., "the cub reporter." The others in the play are the Misses Miriam Stevens, Rachel Tuttle, Louise Hatch, Louise Bateman, Eleanor Russell, Harriet Bullard, Dana Hardy, Wendell Reycroft, Herbert Buttrick, John Colbert, Donald Scully, Alfred Bower and Louis Ross.

OWNERS YIELD 10 PER CENT.

The Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' Association, at a conference with the Fall River Textile Council at Fall River today, offered a flat increase of 10 per cent, to go into effect on Monday. This offer will be presented to the executive committee of the Textile Council tonight, after which it will be submitted to the five Fall River labor unions representing the 30,000 mill workers.

The textile situation at Lawrence was further complicated today by the striking firemen at the Pemberton Mill and the mills owned by the American Woolen Company. A mass meeting of the firemen was held at the headquarters of the Central Labor Union at Lawrence today, when it was voted to demand an increase of 15 per cent. over their present wages. The failure of the mill owners to meet their demand within a week, the firemen declared, would result in the shutting down of the Wood, Washington, Ayer, Prospect and Pemberton mills, as under the law the owners can only employ unlicensed firemen for one week. A committee representing the firemen will call on President Wood today.

The trouble at Clinton continues with 1,000 men out. Preparations to close the Lancaster gingham mills started today by the officials, as a result of the strike.

The weavers held a meeting this afternoon and a direct statement to the management was drafted.

Other increases today were as follows: —The Waskanut Woolen Mills, Farnumsville, 5 per cent.

Coronet Woolen Mills, Mapleville, R. I., 5 per cent.

Berkshire Cotton Mills, Adams, 5 per cent.

CITY HALL NOTES

The National Conference on City Planning will be held in Boston this year, according to a communication received from the officials of the organization at City Hall today. Unless the plans miscarry the delegates will convene here on May 27, 28 and 29.

Roscoe Ellsworth, as attorney for a number of Hyde Park citizens, wants the Mayor to make a complete investigation of the Ward 26 water works system. They are dissatisfied with transactions that the town completed just before its annexation to Boston, and intimate that an investigation will disclose interesting facts.

Those who have opinions on where the city shall locate proposed new playgrounds in Charlestown, East Boston, the South End, Roxbury and Dorchester, had their innings at City Hall this afternoon when Mayor Fitzgerald and the board of park commissioners listened patiently to everybody who desired to be heard on these questions.

The Mayor placed the blame for delay in constructing new sewers squarely at the door of the City Council today when John F. McCarthy of No. 179 Selden street, Dorchester, complained that he was constructing a new $7,000 house on Holborn street, Mattapan and was unable to get the city to build a sewer in the street. The Mayor said that the delay was due to the failure of the council to pass the annual appropriation for new sewers.

HEARST AUTO TO BE PATHFINDER

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Seven hundred citizens of the Pomona Valley who gathered at the Pomona Armory for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association, applauded the announcement that the Hearst newspapers would send an automobile across the country as the pathfinding car of the proposed new ocean-to-ocean highway.

The Hearst car will officially measure the proposed highway and will present the officials of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway Association with definite data regarding the proposed boulevard. The car, it is expected, will leave Los Angeles early next week. It will be driven by Harvey Herrick, holder of the world's road race record and champion race driver of the country.

LOOK AT SITE OF PROPOSED SCHOOL

Despite opposition of former Mayor Nathan Matthews, and other large property holders in the Back Bay, the city is going ahead with plans to place the new High School of Commerce in the Fenway. Today Mayor Fitzgerald, Schoolhouse Commissioner Charles Logue, Commissioner Perkins, Park Commissioner Peabody, and the city's realty expert, John C. Kiley, inspected the site of the proposed new school. It is thought the school committee and superintendent will approve the plans today. Mr. Matthews has threatened to apply for an injunction.

NEW SNAG IN SUGAR ATTACK

NEW YORK, March 22.—The defence in the government's anti-trust case against the sugar magnates met another setback today when Judge Hand, in the Federal Court, ruled that contracts between the American Sugar Refining Company (the so-called trust) and the American Beet Sugar Company might be admitted in evidence. The government practically ended its case today.

Charles R. Heike, former secretary of the trust, who was convicted in the underweighing frauds, was called, but excused. It was said the prosecution expects to prove that out of the forty-six concerns acquired by the Sugar Trust only five were operated.

SAVE THIS PRESCRIPTION

The followig prescription may prove more valuable than gold in time of need. For weak, deranged kidneys, bladder or other urinary organs, mix one-half ounce fluid extract buchu, one-half ounce murax compound, six ounces good pure gin. Take one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal and at bedtime. Any well stocked drug store has the ingredients. It is easily mixed. This quickly restores these organs to their natural power of carrying off impurities. Backache, rheumatic pains and other well known symptoms must be treated promptly to be safe from more serious kidney trouble.

TYPICAL CABIN IN VIRNIA MOUNTAINS AND FLOYD ALLEN'S DAUGHTER

BANDIT LEADER IS CAPTURED

HILLSVILLE, Va., March 22.—The man hunt conducted by officers of two States for the Allen gang which eight days ago shot up the Carroll County (Va.) Courthouse, killing Judge Massie, Prosecutor Foster and Sheriff Webb, bore fruit early today, when Sidna Edwards, one of the ringleaders of the band, was captured in the mountains. Edwards was arrested by detectives of the Baldwin agency and was hustled here, where he is accused of having aided in the shooting.

Creeping through the mountain fastnesses under cover of darkness, the detectives surprised Edwards in his hiding place shortly after midnight, and he was taken without resistance. The capture was made near Lambsburg, a village at the foot of the mountains, after a day's search by 100 detectives, officers and citizens.

Sidna Edwards was the youngest of the Edwards boys, who are nephews of Sidna Allen, who has thus far escaped capture. As the result of his arrest his captors will receive a reward of $300.

Though the detectives had seized control of telephone lines following word of the arrest, news reached here that the rest of the Allen gang had been located near the spot where young Edwards was captured, and that the posse was making preparations to capture the rest of the gang at once.

Community Excited.

This community awoke in a state of excited expectancy over Governor Mann's announcement that steps were being taken which he believed would result in the capture of the Allens this week or the first of next week. No inkling of the nature of the proposed coup has been given out, however.

Fear that information as to the plans and movements of the searchers would leak to the fugitives even resulted in an attempt to censor press dispatches.

According to stories reaching here before Sidna Allen's capture he and his four nephews not only have been in this vicinity since they shot up the Carroll County Court a week ago yesterday, but Sidna, weakened by wounds, actually has slept two nights at his own handsome home. It is said the mountaineers have constantly watched their pursuers through field glasses, and have used successfully a rifle shot code system.

Allen Makes Statement.

Floyd Allen, the old man whose sentence to a year in jail for interfering with an officer precipitated the killing of judge, prosecutor, sheriff, a juror and a young girl, has given out an interview from the Roanoke Jail, carefully censored by his attorney. No reference to the tragedy itself was made by the prisoner. He gave a sketch of his life and an account of the events leading up to his indictment for interfering with an officer, and denied emphatically that he had ever made "moonshine" whiskey.

It is the opinion here that but for their refusal to desert Sidna Allen, whose wounds prevented him from undertaking a journey of length, the younger members of the gang would have made their way before this through the hills and started West.

The fact that still another victim may be added to the courthouse carnage serves to keep the feeling bitter. Andrew P. Howlett, a bystander, who was shot while protecting his wife when the outlaws suddenly opened fire in the courtroom, lies in a precarious condition today in the crude hotel here and he is sinking so rapidly that his death may occur at any time.

An inspection of the courtroom shows that fully two hundred bullets were fired during the storm of lead.

ASKS REPORT BY PORT DIRECTORS

Senator George Holden Tinkham of Boston today offered an order in the Senate calling on Directors of the Port of Boston to supply the following information:

1—Has the German expert, recently employed by your board, made any report.

2—If your answer is in the affirmative, what was the report?

3—If he has not reported, when is said report expected to be received?

4—Whether or not he did not formally or informally advise you that the development of the harbor of Hamburg was largely accomplished by meeting present demands of trade or anticipating, after a careful and scientific study of the demands and currents of trade, the immediate future requirements?

5—What have you accomplished in the nature of a comprehensive plan or plans for the development of the port of Boston since July 28, 1911, under the provisions of chapter 748, of the Acts of 1911?

OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR TECH FUNDS

The first step in the campaign that the Massachusetts Institute of Technology is making to obtain subscriptions from its Alumni was taken today by the mailing by President Maclaurin of a letter to every one of the 9,000 alumni whose addresses are known.

In this letter the president recounts the recent good fortune of the Institute in receiving a $2,500,000 gift, the bequests from Mrs. Rogers and Mr. Greene, the successful campaign for increased aid from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the opportune gift by Mr. Coleman Dupont, '84, of half a million toward the purchase of a new site.

Next there is noted the practical conclusion of the negotiations for the new site, and a few words about the efforts that are being made to secure the erection on this property of a group of buildings worthy of the location and of the Institute. Credit is given to Mr. John R. Freeman, '76, of Providence, who has placed his experience and skill as an engineer at the service of Technology, and to Mr. Edward M. Hagar, '83, who offers as a gift all the cement that may be required in the buildings.

IF YOU NEED A MEDICINE, YOU SHOULD HAVE THE BEST.

Although there are hundreds of preparations advertised, there is only one that really stands out pre-eminent as a remedy for diseases of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest, for the reason that it has proved to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of even the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is a physician's prescription for special diseases, which is not recommended for everything.

A Sworn Certificate of Purity is with every bottle.

Rules to Prevent Collisions in Air

Royal Aero Club Regulations Require Airships to Steer to Right and Pass 110 Yards Apart.

PARIS, March 22.—Regulations to prevent collisions in the air have been drawn up by the Royal Aero Club, and include:

Two air craft meeting must always steer to the right, and pass 110 yards apart.

One air craft overtaking another is responsible for keeping clear. It must not approach within 110 yards to the right or 330 yards to the left of the overtaken craft, and must not pass directly under or over the other craft.

The AMERICAN goes into more homes than all the other evening papers of Boston combined. It is the Quality newspaper.

KAISER HONORS YANKEE DOCTOR

BERLIN, March 22.—The Kaiser has sent one of his adjutants to Dr. Lewis Hart Marks of New York, a young American scientist, who has just established an institute of scientific research at Frankfort-on-the-Main, to convey his congratulations on this latest development of the "German-American intellectual alliance." The adjutant's inquiries showed lively interest on the Kaiser's part to learn who were the Americans who had contributed $125,000 for endowing Dr. Marks' work in Germany.

The new institute is unique in that it is the first time, it is said, a foreigner working with foreign support has ever pitched his tent on German soil for scientific research.

COLONEL LOMBARD FACES MILITIA TRIAL BOARD AT STATE HOUSE

COLONEL LOMBARD ASSERTS CHARGES THAT WERE DROPPED WERE FRIVOLOUS.

IMPAIRING EFFICIENCY OF COMMAND LAID TO MILITIA OFFICER.

Soon after a special examining board assembled in the staff room at the State House today to hear charges against Colonel Walter E. Lombard of the Coast Artillery Corps it was announced that of the twenty-seven original charges all had been dropped except the one as to conduct prejudicial to discipline and the impairment of the efficiency of Colonel Lombard's command by maladministration. The other charges could only be considered by a formal court motion.

One of the charges against Colonel Lombard is:

That he injured the efficiency of the corps by mismanagement and destroyed its confidence by reconsidering his resignation after publicly announcing his intention to resign, and after the corps had practically decided upon his successor.

The announcement that all the charges are dropped except the one referred to showed that the work of the special examining board was greatly simplified, as the twenty-seven original charges covered a wide range, including intoxication, neglect of duty, insulting officers in his command, false accusation, unlawful orders and other alleged faults.

Hearing Is Secret.

The hearing was in secret, beginning at 10 o'clock.

When the announcement was made that all charges had been dropped except one, Adjutant-General Pearson was asked why this had been done. He would give no information.

Colonel Lombard said the twenty-six charges which were dropped were frivolous.

The board of examiners sitting on Colonel Lombard's case consits of Major-General Embury P. Clark (retired), M. V. M., presiding; Brigadier-General Charles K. Darling (retired), M. V. M., and Brigadier-General William A. Pew, Jr., commanding Second Brigade, Eighth Regiment, M. V. M.

Judge Advocate-General William P. Rogers and Major Percy A. Atherton, recorder, went into the staff room.

Colonel Lombard came, bringing three witnesses. They were Lieutenant Charles P. Nutter, retired; Frank C. Brownell and Warren C. Leach.

Witnesses were examined singly. The first one to enter the staff room was Adjutant-General Gardner M. Pearson.

The witnesses called against Colonel Lombard include Attorney-General James M. Swift, Adjutant-General Pearson, Colonel Frederick L. Howes, Major Harry M. Hartung, Captain Frederick M. Whiting, Captain Frederick L. Woods, Captain Olin D. Dickerman, Captain Calvin S. Tilden, Captain Russell P. Reeder, Captain Conrad L. Gerlach, Captain Frederick W. Harrison, Paymaster Horace B. Parker, Lieutenant Bender, U. S. A., Lieutenant Frank A. Young, Lieutenant Harry M. Rugg, Lieutenant Arthur A. Chase, Lieutenant Arthur W. Hinguley and Lieutenant Whipple F. Smith.

The court will sit from day today until the hearing is ended, and will make its report to the Commander-in-Chief, Governor Foss.

Upon the result of the inquiry will depend whether a court-martial will be ordered for Colonel Lombard.

Charges Dropped.

The board of special military examiners was called to inquire into the "mental and military" qualifications of Colonel Lombard, while investigating the charges which alleged that Colonel Lombard was publicly intoxicated at the Copley Square Hotel on Washington's Birthday of last year; that he was intoxicated in the presence of enlisted men during the tour of duty in July of the previous Summer at Fort Andrews, and that he told objectionable stories in responding to a toast at a public banquet at Fall River while in the uniform of his regiment, and while Attorney-General James M. Swift, who is named as a witness, was present. Neglect of duty is another charge.

Further charges alleged that Colonel Lombard publicly criticised Adjutant-General Pearson himself and the military examining board as unfairly treating Captain Herbert A. Lombard, a member of his family. It is charged he called the examining board unfit for duty, and that he also publicly criticised commissioned officers of the corps.

It was charged Colonel Lombard publicly insulted Captain Frederick M. Whiting at a dinner of the corps officers "by making a speech referring to an army mule, comparing a jackass to the way certain officers in the corps had opposed what he wanted, then calling upon Captain Whiting as one of these officers to respond, the implication that he intended to designate Captain Whiting as a jackass being clear to the officers present."

It was further alleged the Colonel publicly told Captain Whiting that the latter was incompetent, and a humbug as an artillery officer, and that he made his reputation from his lieutenants. It was alleged the Colonel on this occasion used insulting language to the Captain in the presence of enlisted men.

It was further charged that Colonel Lombard falsely accused Captains Calvin S. Tilden, Olin D. Dickerman and Conrad M. Gerlach of disobeying orders. Other charges were:

That the colonel issued an unlawful order to Captain Tilden, commanding him to send through his office in writing copies of his communications to the Adjutant-General.

That while intoxicated during the Summer tour of duty in 1911, Colonel Lombard ordered the arrest of various enlisted men without cause.

That he ordered all field, staff and attached department officers to forward him their undated resignations.

That he made false muster certificates, mustering certain men as enlisted specialists when they were merely to serve as kitchen helpers.

That he knowingly signed false payrolls for these helpers.

That he injured the efficiency of the corps by mismanagement and destroyed its confidence by reconsidering his resignation after publicly announced his intention to resign and the corps had practically decided upon his successor.

That he lost the support of a large part of the officers.

By way of criticizing his superiors, Colonel Lombard was accused of having said last June: "I cannot get anything at the State House because Quimby" (meaning Lieutenant-Colonel George F. Quimby) "interferes with everything I try."

Colonel Lombard was relieved of his command, Lieutenant-Colonel Quimby being put in his place by order of Governor Foss Saturday, March 9, following the charges preferred against him by Captain Tilden.

Colonel Lombard at once filed counter charges, accusing Captain Tilden of starting a mutiny and of insubordination, on the ground that he had filed the charges without consulting his superior officer.

G. Bernard Shaw Raps Playgoers

Sarcastic Reply To Invitation.—"No Sane Man Would Go To Theatre."

LONDON, March 22.—George Bernard Shaw sent the following characteristic reply to an invitation to be present at a luncheon in connection with the opening of the new premises of the Playgoers' Club:

> I shall most certainly do nothing to encourage the Playgoers to move into new and comfortable premises. The theatres depend on uncomfortable clubs and unhappy homes, and my income depends on the theatres. No sane man would spend an evening in a theatre if he could find anywhere else to spend it without being bored or henpecked.
> Women drag men to theatres because they get so tired of housekeeping that no matter how delightful they make the home, they desire nothing more than to escape from it, as a cook desires to escape from the smell of roast fowl.

PROVIDENCE LIGHT MERGER AGAIN UP

PROVIDENCE, March 22.—A new effort has been begun by the Stone & Webster Company of Boston to merge four gas and electric companies which it owns or controls in the Blackstone Valley. An act to incorporate the Blackstone Valley Gas & Electric Company was introduced in the General Assembly by Representative Cosseboom of Woonsocket, Republican. Two years ago the Legislature refused to grant a charter to this company because the charter offered at that time would have given the corporation the privilege of merging all the gas and electric companies of the State, if so desired. Two charters were subsequently taken out in other States, the Blackstone Valley Gas & Electric Company in Maine and the Pawtucket Gas Company in New Jersey, and both corporations are now holding companies.

REFORM SCHOOL FOR GIRL KIDNAPER

PROVIDENCE, March 22.—Grace E. Studley, fifteen, who ran away from home and then kidnaped an infant, was sent to the Oak Lawn School for Girls by Judge Baker in the Superior Court, to remain at that reform institution until she is twenty-one. Judge Baker said it was not so much a question of punishment as that of helping the juvenile kidnaper, as he found it would be dangerous for her future welfare if she were allowed her liberty at present.

SEUMAS M'MANUS AT THE CITY CLUB

Seumas MacManus, the Irish storyteller, entertained the members of the Boston City Club by reciting selections from the folk-lore of his native Donegal. "Every hill and glen in Ireland is rich in legends, which have been repeated by the country people for countless generations about their Winter peat fires," said Mr. MacManus. The speaker told several humorous and interesting stories of the Irish peasantry.

PASTOR SAVES DOG FROM FIRE

The Rev. Allen A. Stockdale of the Union Congregational Church, was congratulated today for his act in going into his smoke-filled apartment and braving suffocation to save his Boston bull, Nip, when fire in the apartment next door threatened to burn through to the pastor's suite. The dog was partially overcome by smoke when brought into the open air.

The fire was in an adjoining house, No. 67 St. Botolph street, occupied by Murray H. Fowler. The Rev. Mr. Stockdale had been at his church with his family and was on his way to keep an engagement, when his attention was attracted to the fire apparatus clattering along St. Botolph street.

Fearing that his house was afire, he retraced his steps to find the adjoining house ablaze. Nobody was in his suite, so he immediately thought of Nip, his pet dog, a prize Boston terrier.

When he opened the door he was halted by the smoke which had poured in from the adjoining house. At first he thought that the blaze had spread to his apartment. Dr. Stockdale made his way to a window and quickly opened it, ventilating his apartment. His dog was lying on the floor of a room partially overcome. Quickly he picked up the canine and rushed downstairs to the street. Nip soon was revived and was taken care of by neighbors until the return of Dr. Stockdale.

The Fowler family occupied suite 2. They also were absent when the fire was discovered by another occupant of the house. The Boylston street apparatus responded on a still alarm and after about twenty minutes the blaze had made such progress that Chief Byron sounded an alarm from Box 88.

The occupants of the three other suites in the house fled to the street. Those on the third floor had a little difficulty in coming down the stairs, as smoke and flame interfered with their exit. They reached the street, however, choking and much frightened.

GREAT WHITE WAY PLANNED FOR LYNN

Plans for a "Great White Way" for Lynn have been brought by the Board of Trade before the Municipal Council. The plans include the erection of fancy lamp posts through all the business district, and a system of lighting known as the "Luminous" light, with each lamp of 1,000 candle-power. The merchants agree to pay the expenses of erection and installation, if the city will pay for maintenance.

20,000 JEWS TO VOTE BY PROXY

CHICAGO March 22.—It is estimated that 20,000 orthodox Jews will vote by proxy at the primary for State and county officials April 9. Judge Owens entered an order allowing judges and clerks of election to mark ballots for voters of the Jewish faith. Primary day falls on the last day of the Jewish Passover and orthodox Jews do not write on that day.

Oldsmobile
14th Year

More than you demand

Autocrat, 4-Cylinder

5 inch bore; 6 inch stroke. Compression release.

4-speed transmission with quiet gears.

¾ elliptic rear springs.

Complete shock-absorber equipment.

39 by 5 inch Tires on Demountable Rims.

Ventilators in fore-doors an exclusive feature.

Nickel and Black enamel finish on metal parts.

Absolutely complete touring equipment of highest quality without any extra charge.

Price $3,500.

THE makers of the Oldsmobile are even more critical than their patrons. They forestall competition by building a car which surpasses the actual demand of motorists.

For example, you say "that is an easy riding machine," if you are not unduly shaken in the average car on the average demonstration. The Oldsmobile, however, with its admirable springs, complete shock-absorber equipment, large wheels and tires, and deep upholstery, compels you to say:

"This is luxury indeed—two hundred miles of this kind of motoring would not tire me."

Come to our place of business in as critical a humor as you like; we want to show you the surprising, but pleasant truth contained in the foregoing claims! Will you give us this opportunity?

URGES PENSIONS FOR MOTHERS

ST. LOUIS, March 22.—Pensioning widowed and deserted mothers, rather than placing their children in charitable institutions, was urged by Miss Mary S. Garrett, chairman of the Department of Legislation, in an address before the Mothers' National Congress.

Miss Garrett, connected with the Probation Association and Juvenile Court of Philadelphia, spoke in favor of the bill for the establishment of a Federal children's bureau. The measure has passed the United States Senate.

Mrs. Frederic Schoff of Philadelphia, president, spoke in her annual report to the congress of the establishment of the organization in several States and in Cuba.

The movement had received a setback in Mexico, she said, because of the overthrow of the Diaz Administration.

COL. C. F. SPRAGUE DEAD IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, March 22.—Colonel Charles Ezra Sprague, sixty-nine, president of the Union Dime Savings Bank of New York, is dead at his home here. He served in the Union Army during the Civil War and won distinction at the battle of Gettysburg, where he was wounded and disabled. Colonel Sprague was a former president of the savings bank section of the American Bankers' Association and the author of a number of books on banking. He was graduated from Union College in 1860.

Emilie Grigsby in Social War Again Storms London Gates

EMILIE GRIGSBY, WHO PLANS LONDON SOCIETY COUP

LONDON, March 22.—Emilie Grigsby, who arrived on the Mauretania, is occupying a large suite at Claridge's, preparatory to taking a house in Mayfair for another attempt to invade exclusive London society. She said she hopes she has left New York for good, and nothing will occur to take her back.

She is looking at several houses in the Grosvenor district, and has bought a number of art treasures from America which were not put up at the recent public sale.

When she selects a house she probably will motor on the continent, while it is being prepared, which may take until the mid-season.

Miss Grigsby's plunge from the social ladder in England was due to criticism of the methods she is said to have employed in seeking friendship with the royal family.

The apparent high favor in which the royal family held Miss Grigsby—as evidenced by her position at the coronation ceremonies in Westminster Abbey—caused no end of gossip.

Society and the general public alike found it difficult to understand how the American girl, whose chief claim to fame is that she was the "ward" of the late Charles T. Yerkes, the traction magnate, was placed in a seat much nearer to the King and Queen than were many of the highest nobles in the land. To her also was sent an especial luncheon in a leather case by Princess Mary.

The gossips have it that Miss Grigsby in a peculiar way became quite a chum of the young royal princess. They say the Princess Mary's governess is an old friend of the American girl and that the latter was presented in democratic fashion to the princess by the governess.

Then sprang up one of these companionships that often occur in the cases of frank, impulsive girls like the young princess, who insist upon making friends where they please regardless of caste.

Soon afterward Miss Grigsby's star began to wane and she returned to New York.

ACTRESS BRIDE FOR CONNERY, JR

Mayor Connery of Lynn today sprung a big surprise on his City Hall friends by introducing as the promised bride of his son, William P. Connery, Jr., Miss Antoinette Le Gault.

"The happy man?" laughed Mayor Connery, when quizzed as to the significance of a big solitaire that sparkled on Miss Le Gault's finger, she being with him at the time. "Oh! Didn't I mention it before? The happy man is my son, of course. Miss Le Gault is my daughter-in-law to be. I thought that everybody knew they were engaged to be married."

"We will be married in a few months, after Lent is over," was the most definite reply that the young woman would give when questioned as to the date of her marriage. "Our engagement is so—there, I think that it would be better if you wait a little before putting so many questions."

The Mayor's son is a graduate of Holy Cross, was born in Lynn and at one time took part in a vaudeville sketch with Miss Le Gault as his partner.

Miss Le Gault sang in the choir of the St. Jean Baptist Catholic Church in Lynn before going on the stage, and the wedding announced today no doubt will occur there.

With a rich contralto voice and a charming personality, she is a favorite in social and church circles in Lynn, which is also her home.

Miss Le Gault is a member of the Lindsay Morison Stock Company now playing in the Auditorium at Lynn. Her fiance is in the "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" Company, taking the part of Harkins, the reporter.

BIG SALE FOR CITY CLUB OPERA NIGHT

All but 200 seats have been sold for the special "City Club Night" at the Boston Opera House, Tuesday evening, and it is expected that all will soon be disposed of among the members of the club. This night, for which there has been no public sale of seats, has been arranged in consideration of the great interest shown by the members of the club in the success of the opera. In addition to the program announced Mme. Maria Gay will sing the famous "Habanera" from Bizet's "Carmen."

PUT OUT OF HOTEL; GET $1,500 EACH

NEW YORK, March 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Favish of Birmingham, Ala., will get $1,500 damages each for humiliation incident to being ejected from the Hotel Astor, here, last year. This compromise verdict was agreed upon by counsel, after an indiscreet juror had caused a mistrial by asking a witness for the defendant "what would happen" if he (the juror) held up the case. The witness told the defendant's lawyer; the defendant's lawyer told the Court. The Court lectured the juror; then the compromise was reached. The Favishes sued for $100,000.

FOUR HELD IN ALLEGED PLOT

Harry Kessler, a Lynn expressman; Samuel Bromberg and his wife, and Morris Fertal, who lives with the Brombergs at No. 10 Stickney street, Lynn, were arraigned in the Lynn police court today charged with conspiracy on complaint of Max German of Charles street, who conducts an express business. Peter Breen, attorney, entered a plea of not guilty for the four defendants and they were held in $5000 bail each until March 30.

German complains that the four people conspired to wreck his express business, and that they caused the death of three of his horses, valued at $1,000, by poisoning them. The arrests are the result of an examination made at the Harvard Medical School of the contents of the stomach of one of the horses. The report from the Harvard Medical School shows that the horse was given a large quantity of arsenic in his feed.

German told Chief of Police Burckes of Lynn today that he is a victim of Black Hand letters, and that one night recently he was brutally assaulted near his home. The police have been investigating the case for the past three months.

German was at one time employed by Samuel Bromberg and Company, expressmen, of which firm Samuel Bromberg, one of the arrested men, is the head.

FINDS SHAKESPEARE BEST IN GERMANY

Miss A. E. F. Horniman in an address before the Drama League at the Plymouth Theatre declared, "the best performances of Shakespeare that I have ever seen were given in Germany. We have wonderful stage productions, with choirs to sing the music behind the scenes, and the most elaborate accessories—but in order to have time for all these features, it is necessary to cut the text considerably."

RASH COVERED HANDS TORTURE AWFUL

Scratched Until Raw and Bleeding, Could Not Wash Them, Lost Three Weeks' Work, Now Hands Are Soft and Smooth Through Use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

417 West 50th St., New York, N. Y.—"About eighteen months ago a rash broke out on my right thumb and spread until my hand was completely covered. At first it simply itched, and then it began to burn and torture. My hands were in such a state that I could not put them in water or wash them. I used to scratch them until they were raw and bleeding, and I did not know what it was to have a full night's sleep. While working I had to wear gloves with finger tips cut off and I lost three weeks' work.

"I doctored with druggists, salves and washes for six weeks and did not get any relief. In the meantime it had spread to my left hand and the torture was awful. I was about to give up in disgust when I was told to send for a little Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used to put the Cuticura Ointment on in the morning. When I got home in the evening, I put a fresh supply on for the night. Very often I would get up after being in bed for a few hours and put some more on. It soothed them so I could go to sleep again, and the Cuticura Soap and Ointment eased my hands so much the first night that I thought there was nothing the matter with them. I used them for about two months. Now I am completely cured. My hands are like a baby's, so soft and smooth, through the use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) William H. Clark, Nov. 15, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

MYSTERY PLAY SHOWS INCIDENTS OF HUNT FOR DONOR TO TECH

MYSTERY PLAY—"WHO GAVE TECH THAT $2,500,000?"

Scene—Auditorium. Technology Hall filled with students. On the stage—President Maclaurin and a very un-mysterious, smiling mustached gentleman with a flower in his buttonhole.

Chorus of whispering students:

Say, see who's on the stage. Bet that's Mister Two Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Other whispers—Aw, g'wan! That's Burns, the great detective. Prexy was so anxious to keep it a secret that he forgot the man's name and so he had to send for Burns to find it out again.

Mr. Burns is introduced, and makes a very quiet, modest matter of fact speech and sits down.

President Maclaurin—I have been on pins and needles while Mr. Burns has been speaking for fear he would tell you the name of the donor. Thank heaven, he didn't.

Mr. Burns—Good reason. I don't know.

Curtain.

MADERO TROOPS ATTACK REBELS

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, March 22.—A report received here that a force of 3,000 Federals is advancing north from Torreon to check the rebel advance south was confirmed when a messenger arrived from Escalon with word that the Federals have destroyed ten bridges, one just below Escalon, between Cevallos and Bermejillo. Less than fifteen miles now separates the rebels' and Federals' advance troops.

News reached here that a rebel force of fifty men under Colonel G. S. Racon, a former adherent of Madero, has taken the town of Cruachic, sixty miles west of Lalaja.

Rosario, a little town west of Parral, was taken by a small company of rebels. Two hours later the rebels took the village of Santa Barbara, three miles northwest.

On one of the officers who surrendered with Major Ramirez at Baca a telegram was found directing a railroad official at Jimenez to destroy all bridges in his territory as far north and south as possible and to render as much of his rolling stock [illegible] as he could before the rebels [illegible]. The telegram was dated Torreon, and is taken as evidence that the Federals are mobilizing at that point.

EX-SENATOR TOWNE'S HOME AGAIN ROBBED

NEW YORK, March 22.—Former Senator Charles A. Towne of Minnesota, who has been living at No. 1,160 Ocean avenue, Flatbush, for about a year, threatens to quit that section and locate where there is not such absolutely farcical police protection. [illegible] Mr. Towne says has been robbed twice. Mr. Towne says that the police protection in Flatbush is a joke and that the frequent burglaries in the thinly settled parts are deterring people from coming there to live. He said he expected soon to move away.

CANADA CONTINUES RECIPROCITY FIGHT

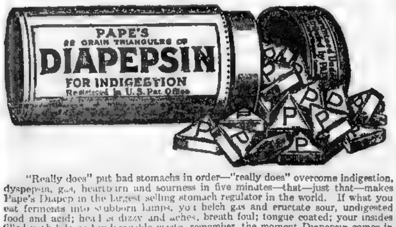
OTTAWA, Ont., March 22.—The taking of testimony by the committee appointed by the Senate to report on the loss sustained by the Western Grain Growers' Association by the defeat of reciprocity last year began here today. This is in line with the Liberals' policy to keep the reciprocity issue alive for national action when the opportunity presents itself in the future. A large delegation of grain growers from Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan are on hand to testify.

CARPENTER'S FATAL FALL.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., March 22.—A fall of eighteen feet killed Albert Ainsley, a carpenter at the Thatford mines today. His neck was broken.

A FEW DIAPEPSIN WILL REGULATE A BAD STOMACH IN FIVE MINUTES

It is so needless to suffer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Heartburn or a sour, gassy, upset Stomach.



"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches, breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember, the moment Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

MADAME CALVE TO QUIT OPERATIC STAGE AND TEACH SINGING

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Madame Calve, and her husband, Signor [illegible], will retire from the operatic stage when their present contracts expire to establish an institution here for the teaching of operatic singing. This was announced by Madame Calve here today. She said:

"I cannot bear the [illegible] changing and the [illegible] that this work of ours [illegible] so tedious.

"We are making [illegible] now to [illegible] when we have finished the present contracts nothing will persuade us to [illegible] again. Then we will [illegible] teach. You know California's climate is ideal for the singer."

It Happened in March

And it seemed to many like "bringing coals to Newcastle" when we opened this Big, Live Store a year ago this month. They said the field was already crowded, and besides—Summer Street was no place for a Men's Store anyway.

We thought differently, and, while subsequent events fully warrant it, we refrain from saying: "We told you so." This brief mention is the only notice we shall take of the completion of our first year in Boston.

We might have a "Birthday Bargain Event," or an "Anniversary Sacrifice Sale," or something of that sort, but birthdays mean little since some stores began to have one every month, and selling Good Clothes at the lowest possible prices 365 days in the year forbids our starting the new season with a mark-down, even if we wanted to

SYMPTOMS OF THIN BLOOD

How Building Up the Blood Makes Weak, Nervous People Strong and Robust.

Have you ever stopped to consider what is the meaning of the various symptoms from which you are suffering? Certainly the paleness, pain in the back, headaches, loss of appetite, nervousness, shortness of breath must have some one cause. They are not diseases in themselves but are complaints and warnings from the different organs of the body that these organs are not being supplied with pure blood and cannot do their daily work well.

To be in good health a person must always have good, rich blood. Every tissue of the body depends upon it for nourishment and strength. Knowledge of this fact makes possible a direct treatment for the various disorders from which we suffer. You can cure yourself by making the blood pure with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Mrs. L. F. Lothrop, of Union street, Stoughton, Mass., says: "No one could have been more benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People than I have. I had been treated by many different physicians but without help. My nerves were prostrated. For a long time my back was so weak that I could not get up from my chair. When I got so I could stand up, I was troubled with dizziness. I had to walk very slowly and was in constant fear of falling. My friends thought I was going into consumption. I was emaciated and reduced in weight to 98 pounds. I chanced to read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and got a box. They helped me and I used them until cured. From a poor, weak, nervous woman, I have become a strong, robust woman. I have had no physician for a number of years. I would recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anyone suffering from any disease resulting from impoverished blood or weakness from any cause."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People should be used in anaemia, chlorosis or green sickness, sick headache, nervousness and for a general run-down condition of the health.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are for sale at all druggists, or will be mailed to any address, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Our new booklet, "Diseases of the Blood," will be sent free on request.

LEAVES TRAIL OF BAD CHECKS

MONTREAL, March 22. With worthless checks on their hands for $10,000 and downwards, several Montreal real estate men learned today that "George H. Harrison of Boston," who negotiated for $[illegible] of real estate and then suddenly disappeared, is a man named Rowe of Fredericton [illegible] and is missing. "Harrison" who bought the gray nuns' property for nearly $1,500,000, left the local hotel unexpectedly.

As a result of Rowe's disappearance and the discovery that his capital amounted to a few hundred dollars, instead of a few millions, the gray nuns' property on St. Catherine street reverts to an Ottawa man who has an option on it and the present owner of Dominion Square Methodist church has to find another buyer.

The first man his [illegible] paid a worth[illegible] $1,000 check, and the second managed [illegible] plans for [illegible] Harrison's room in the Windsor. SHOPPING ON CREDIT

More Than 50,000 People USE THE Peoples Credit Co.'s 'Order Check'

LADIES, REMEMBER—The beautiful Spring offerings of the Department Stores, the Specialty Shops, the Millinery Establishments are all within easy reach—lack of money no longer compels you to go without—and you need not go to the old style credit concern, with its limited stock of last year's goods and its unfair, high prices. Use the Peoples Credit Co.'s "Order Check," have the labels of the best cash stores on your clothing, just the same as your neighbor who pays cash. Call on us and arrange to do your shopping on credit.

GENTLEMEN—Arrangements have been made that will permit you to buy the Best Brands of Clothing on credit—makes that have been advertised nationally and locally in the newspapers and magazines. N. Sallinger of the Peoples Credit Co. is bound by agreement with the makers not to charge you one cent more for these brands when you buy them on credit than you would pay if you bought them from your regular clothier for cash. [illegible] agreement is complete and absolute. You are fully protected. What is your opinion of a credit arrangement that will allow you to purchase on credit at cash prices any of the following well-known brands of high grade men's clothing, all containing the labels of the reputable makers and not the labels of a cheap credit house.

C. F. ADAMS IS AGAIN Y. R. A. PRESIDENT

The Yacht Racing Association of Massachusetts has re-elected Charles Francis Adams, 2d, as president. Mr. Adams has been president of the association for several years, and it was his desire to retire, but he was prevailed upon to serve one more term. Bryan S. Permar of the Boston Yacht Club was re-elected vice-president; Arthur T. Bliss of the Cottage Park Yacht Club, secretary; J. H. Wiley of the Wellfleet Yacht Club, treasurer. The following executive committee was elected: Charles Francis Adams, 2d, chairman; A. T. Bliss, secretary; Ralph S. Goudy, Winthrop Yacht Club; H. W. Robbins, Quincy Yacht Club, and Cyrus K. Small, Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club.

WANDERERS BEATEN BY QUEBEC SEVEN

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Quebec hockey team, professional champions of Canada, defeated the Wanderers of Montreal at St. Nicholas Rink here in an exciting game by a score of 5 to 4.

The Wanderers finished the first period 3 to 1. In the second Quebec evened up the score, and in the third the Stanley cup holders got a lead.

Paddy Moran, the veteran goaler of Quebec, had three stitches put in his lip, but pluckily returned to his post and finished the game.

STAG PARTY GIVEN BY MAGNOLIA CLUB

The Magnolia Club of Revere, formerly the Highland Associates, tendered a stag party to its members and friends last night, at the club rooms, on Mountain avenue. The speakers were John Coughlan, town moderator; D. Maggi, E. J. Tabbs, John Barnett and Frank Sullivan. The Hammond brothers entertained with piano recitals, while Joe O'Brien, Eddie Kerwin and Johnny Chamberlin assisted with vocal selections. A sparring exhibition by local boys was also a feature of the entertainment. The club will have a ladies' night in the near future.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 22.—[illegible] baseball game [illegible] final preliminary [illegible] stack up against George Stallings' [illegible] Buffalo in the International League at Augusta Park tomorrow.

One of the conditions of the game is that Ty Cobb be permitted to play with the Bisons. As [illegible] Georgia's favorite son and as the great [illegible] Young will appear at the big show [illegible] expected to attend.

PILGRIMS ANXIOUS FOR GAME

Stallings [illegible] from Aiken, Ga. [illegible] George [illegible] manager of the Yankees [illegible] He was deposed at [illegible] and took charge of [illegible] Buffalo. He has bales of currency and does not need to play baseball. He owns a 4000 acre plantation in Georgia but he can't break away from the game.

His team is [illegible] a Georgia nine now and Stallings, who [illegible] as a headliner, wants to get in right with the natives. Hence tomorrow's game.

The Pilgrims are eager for the engagement. They are beginning to tire of the game of solitaire, played under a broiling sun which drives the temperature up to ninety six on the diamond and sends everybody home sleepy and "dopey." They want ginger and they think a live bout with somebody else's bat [illegible] will help.

After this game the Pilgrims will have but three more days of practice in Augusta before setting sail for the North. They will be glad to get away. Not that they dislike the people or the country of the South with Mar[illegible] "dog days" [illegible] for a Northern [illegible] If the Pilgrims stayed here a couple of weeks longer they would sleep two or three hours before the game or during it and then go home to bed.

Al Mattern is the [illegible] "comeback" today. Al broke into the game yesterday without practice and stood the [illegible] the field for three innings [illegible] of Kling's organization [illegible] two [illegible] singles and a [illegible]

Plain Facts about Champagne

Can the customs officers impart life, bouquet, flavor to a wine? Can a transatlantic steamship freight department improve the purity and deliciousness of a champagne?
If so, by all means pay $2.00 for your champagne—of which Uncle Sam gets 60c for duty and a steamship company 40c for freight. But if not—buy Cook's Imperial and get the best of champagnes, all of whose cost goes into quality.

Twenty Famous Men

A LAME BOY

By THOMAS TAPPER

It is said that the best two biographies in the English language are Boswell's Life of Johnson and J. G. Lockhart's Life of Walter Scott. Lockhart was Scott's son-in-law, and his account of the great Scotch author is full of detail that makes you know exactly what kind of a man he was. Such books are the moving pictures of literature. The films are in the page and your own brain is the machine that throws them on the screen of the imagination.

As a boy, Scott was whole hearted, bright, active and cheerful. He loved to play, despite his lameness.

Walter Scott was not much of a success in school, although he loved to read history, particularly that embodied in the stories of his own people, the "Border Chivalry" as he knew it.

Now, such tales are full of action, and the boy not only read them, but he would gather his school friends about him and recite to them by the hour. This is one important fact in his life. IT WAS THE WAY HE BEGAN TO LEARN EVERYTHING THAT AFTERWARD MADE THE WAVERLEY NOVELS.

In the course of time the cheerful, lame boy studied law and was admitted to the bar [illegible] county [illegible] court at Edinburgh, receiving [illegible] salary for his services about $8000 per year. He was forty-four before his first great book was published [illegible] Lay of the Last Minstrel. [illegible] thousand copies were sold in Great Britain alone. This success led Scott to choose authorship as his life work. When "Marmion" was written the publishers made him an offer of $5000 for it before they had ever seen the manuscript.

Was the lame man filled with pride over his success?

This incident answers that question. When he was forty-two years old the Prince Regent asked Scott to [illegible] the post of Poet Laureate. He was acknowledged to be the most popular poet in Great Britain. It was an honor and great men [illegible] Scott not only declined [illegible] but [illegible] his friend Robert Southey [illegible]

In the same year 1813 Scott began his first novel, Waverley. In the [illegible] or twelve years he wrote about twenty of these books, which we know as the Waverley Novels. They brought him about $125,000 a sum more in those days than it is in these of high cost of living.

For many years only a very few of his intimate friends knew that he was the author of these famous books, for they were published without his name. In fact he was so particular that he should not be spoken of as their author that his friends [illegible] "Great Unknown."

The success that made Scott's life so pleasant in many ways was disturbed by his investment of money in a publishing house. Neither the [illegible] nor Scott himself ever gave much attention to the details of the business, and they all woke up one morning to the fact that a failure stared them in the face. The debts amounted to over half a million of dollars.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR AT SMALL COST; SIMPLE REMEDY MAKES THE HAIR DARK AND GLOSSY

What a pity it is to see so many people with thin, wispy hair, faded or streaked with gray, and realize that most of these people might have soft, glossy, abundant hair of beautiful color and lustre if they would but use the proper treatment. There is no necessity for gray hair under sixty-five years of age, and there is no excuse for anyone, young or old, having thin, straggling hair, either full of dandruff or heavy and rank smelling with excessive oil.

You can bring back the natural color of your hair in a few days and forever rid yourself of any dandruff and loose [illegible] and make your hair grow strong [illegible] by using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. For generations common garden Sage has been used for restoring and preserving the color of the hair; and Sulphur is recognized by Scalp Specialists as being excellent for treatment of hair and scalp troubles.

If you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp, or if your hair is losing its color or coming out, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and notice the improvement in the appearance of your hair after a few days' treatment.

"Fishing" for Feathers

A Thrilling Moment for the Condor-Catchers in the Andes When a Big Bird Is Brought to Bay

NETTING condors is an exciting, and also an extremely profitable business engaged in every Spring by various bands of hunters in the Andes. The birds are trapped by means of a big net worked by a draw-rope which falls on them while they are busy with some meat that has been placed under the net as bait.

The hunters then take some of the tail feathers of the birds, which are used as plumes for the headgear of Italian soldiers. Then the birds are allowed to escape and grow another crop of feathers for the next season.

As the condors are absolutely fearless, they fight their hardest to get free when the net falls on them and many a hunter has felt, to his sorrow, the sharp beak of an infuriated bird.

What Man Should You Marry?

FRECKLES

March Worst Month for This Trouble—How to Remove Easily.

There's a reason why nearly everybody freckles in March, but happily there is also a cure for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get one ounce of othine, double strength from Houghton & Dutton Co. or Riker-Jaynes Drug Co., and apply a little of it at night, and in the morning you will see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they will stay all Summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if othine fails.

HERSHFIELD

I.—HELD BY THE ENEMY.

Once more the beautiful Rosamond is helpless in the grasp of the villain Desmond. Her lover Claude, still in the moving van, has been outdistanced, and Rosamond is being rapidly borne away into some secret hiding place in the mysterious Chinese quarter of the city. Even now the brave girl does not lose confidence in Claude.

II.—TO THE OPIUM DEN.

Desmond has forced Rosamond to descend a long flight of steps leading to an opium den, where he expects to find safety from the pursuit of Claude. Claude, from the top of the steps, observes Desmond's manoeuvres, but is too far away to prevent them. The villain knows Claude can't stand the dense smoke.

III.—THE HERO'S PLAN.

Hastily rushing into a marine store, Claude Eclaire demands a diving suit from the intelligent Chinese presiding over it. The hero has fathomed Desmond's plan and he hopes by using the diving suit to be able to go safely and unsuffocated through the heavy smoke that fills the room where the opium slaves resort.

IV.—THROUGH THE SMOKE.

Although provided with free opium by Desmond and offered a reward for smoking harder, Claude, ensconced in his diving suit, passes safely through the room filled with the fumes and continues on the track of the villain, who is running away with his beautiful Rosamond. There are many hiding places here, however.

V.—A DESPERATE RESORT.

Despairing of finding Desmond by searching through the rooms of the Chinese house, Claude resolves upon a desperate plan. He turns on the water, in which he can exist with the aid of his diving suit, in the hope of forcing the scoundrel out of his secret hiding place in the recesses of the house.

VI.—THE RISING TIDE.

"I'm the boy!" cries Desperate Desmond, "but I'm no fish." Claude's plan causes the water to rise rapidly in the cellar where Desmond has concealed Rosamond, and in a few minutes the villain will be forced out. Rosamond's belief in her lover's skill looks as if it would be justified. Tomorrow will tell.

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS

COPPERS UP IN BOTH MARKETS; U. P. AT 170¾

By W. H. ROSS

STATE STREET, March 22—Midday.—The opening of the stock market in Boston was characterized by price firmness for the list as a whole and trading was fair in volume. Copper sentiment appeared a little stronger. Most of the recently active stocks were in demand. At the opening Mohawk and North Butte were higher and Calumet & Arizona off a trifle.

Before noon East Butte, Greene-Cananea, Isle Royale, Superior-Boston and Butte-Superior had all gone up. Lake, however, was fractionally lower.

The New York market was strong, with Coppers getting much attention. Union Pacific went to 170¾.

Copper statistics show an increase in exports of 2,820 tons for the week ending yesterday.

It is said in New York that the Missouri Pacific road is about to offer $5,000,000 three-year 5 per cent. gold notes. This is the unsold balance of the $25,000,000 issue authorized last year.

Coppers Lead in Market Interest.

Coppers attracted most of the speculative interest in the New York market when it opened today, and American Smelting went up 1¼ at the outset, with Amalgamated and Utah Copper trailing it closely. Both of the latter sold at the highest price so far attained in this movement. Several other industrials were strong and American Sugar went up a point.

The general tone of the market was firm, and new high levels were reached by a number of issues. Lehigh Valley was strong among the railroads, going up ⅞ in the earliest trading, while Reading made a like gain, and Union Pacific, St. Paul and Erie all sold higher. Ontario & Western advanced 1⅜.

The curb was firm.

Parliamentary proceedings regarding the coal strike helped the London market and consols were stronger, while home rails improved on covering. American stocks were above New York parity and steady in tone. Canadian Pacific, however, was a little heavy. There was not much movement in foreign stocks in general. Near the close the market became quiet and an easier tone prevailed. De Beers, which had gone up ⅛ to 20, receded to 19⅞. Rio Tintos declined ⅜ to 72½.

Copper Situation Here and Abroad.

President Adolph Lewisohn of the Miami Copper Company thinks copper will soon be on the 16 cents level and that the advance has been based on actual demand. He says only limited quantities of the metal can now be obtained at 15 cents, and is of the opinion that when the British coal strike is over there will be a material increase in requirements there for this product. "I believe," he said, "copper will further advance and within a reasonable time reach 16 cents a pound. While it is true that most of the larger producers are making good profits at present prices, it must be taken into consideration that good copper mines are very scarce."

The copper market opened strong today with spot quoted in London at £66 12s. 6d., up 11s. 3d., and futures at £67 7s. 6d., an advance of the same amount as for spot. While it is said there were a few offerings in New York early yesterday at 14⅞ cents a pound, the market was on the 15-cent basis and today the New York Sun says:

"A sale of electrolytic copper made late yesterday afternoon at 15 cents cash New York for export in June places the metal in this instance at 15¼ cents a pound. This price was by no means general, but previous laggards met the general advance and were able to book orders at 15 cents without trouble."

One of the big copper consumers in this country is the National Conduit & Cable Company, and what it says about the metal situation in a monthly statement is of as much interest as the views of Mr. Lewisohn quoted above. This company says:

"The movement toward more and better business is noticeably stronger and a material growth in industrial activity is hoped for in the near future. It is true that some plants are obliged to admit that operations are considerably below the level of their capacity, but a good deal of business is being placed and improvement is looked for as the year progresses. The copper consuming industries will eventually come into their own, and with a return of normal prosperity the domestic demand for copper should show great expansion."

London Buying of Amalgamated.

As to the copper securities situation, it is said that London was a large buyer of Amalgamated in the New York market yesterday, where 68,000 shares were dealt in. Of American Smelting 32,900 were sold, while those of Utah Copper totalled 13,200. That coppers were a considerable factor in the market can be perceived when it is considered that those three issues sold to a total of 114,100 shares in a market where all sales figured up to 751,010. In speaking of the trading in Amalgamated, the New York Herald remarks:

"The minor coppers, in which Boston specializes, are now being talked of for some sharp gains. There is one advantage of trading in those Boston pets—a little money goes a long way."

When as a 2 per cent. stock Amalgamated was selling nearly 20 points higher than now, the price of metal was so low it certainly did not warrant a higher dividend rate. In view of the price of the issue then and the present prospects of its paying a higher rate, the current quotations are alluring enough to explain the market demand.

Berlin Bankers Want N. Y. Money.

The special Berlin correspondent of the Boston AMERICAN says that bankers in his city are eager to borrow money in New York, and will probably be offering higher rates before the end of the quarter. Berlin is unable at present to get the funds needed in Germany in either London or Paris, where bankers are a little perplexed as to how to meet the requirements of their own countries. In fact, European banks are fortifying themselves for the demands which they must meet at the end of this month, and for some time Berlin has been the weakest centre. The Bank of England's present ratio of reserves to liabilities is 43¼ per cent., the lowest in years.

The American Loan to Nicaragua.

Ever since General William Walker went filibustering with a band of American adventurers in Nicaragua with the intention, as he frankly avowed in the book he published before he was captured and shot, of adding to the slave holding territory of the United States, the finances of the country he invaded have been in a deplorable state. There is a bill pending before Congress which will sanction a loan to Nicaragua by American bankers of $15,000,000. Before that Central American country can get the big amount it is assured of a temporary loan from bankers here of $2,225,000 with which it proposes to reform its currency and establish a national banking system of this country. The bank on the lines of the national United States government is taking a great deal of interest in Nicaraguan finances. When the Canal is finished it would not be well to have any warship sent by any European power to collect debts from Panama's next door neighbor.

DEATH RATE IN MINES IN U. S. SHOWS STEADY INCREASE FOR 25 YEARS

The mine horror at McCurtain, Oklahoma, is cited today as still another proof that the United States fails to properly protect the lives of workingmen in this country.

A death rate by accidents of 3.13 per 1,000 employes in the mines of the United States is reduced to 1.81 in France and 1.29 in the United Kingdom. Instead of decreasing, the accident death rate in the mines of the United States has shown a steady increase in the last twenty-five years.

BRITISH PEACE MEASURE FAILS

LONDON, March 22.—The coal strike situation again was plunged into serious complications today, when Premier Asquith in the House of Commons declared the government is unable to accept the amendment calling for a fixed minimum wage of $1.25 daily for men and fifty cents daily for boys, proposed by the Federated Miners Union, to be affixed to the minimum wage bill. The amendment at last was defeated.

As the executive committee of the miners had passed a resolution saying they would not accept the bill as a medium of settling the strike unless it provided for a definite price set forth in the bill, the government's rejection of the measure brought on a new crisis. The announcement by the Premier was regarded as a big victory by the mine owners and unionists, who have opposed the bill bitterly.

Today's action by the government makes great industrial war certain, according to Enoch Edwards, president of the miners' union, and a Labor member of the House.

"The action of Premier Asquith in refusing to accept the amendment providing for a certain wage of $1.25 for men and fifty cents for boys, has closed the door which appeared yesterday open to the settlement," he said.

In discussing the proposed amendments, the Premier spoke against the introduction of definite figures in the bill.

"While I believe the figures in the schedule ($1.25 daily for men and 50 cents daily for boys) are reasonable," said he, "it is undesirable to state any fixed price."

Following the Premier's announcement of the rejection of the fixed wage amendment, debate arose over the wage qualifications and how they should be established. Sir A. B. Markham, speaking for the operators, suggested an amendment providing that the wages be uniform in certain districts, instead of trying to fix a uniform minimum rate for the whole United Kingdom. Mr. Asquith then said the government would not object to such a clause.

Ramsay McDonald, leader of the Laborites, grew impatient, and, springing to his feet, cried: "This bill is an attempt to settle the coal strike. What's the use of splitting hairs over a minimum wage." Continuing, he asserted, the miners were perfectly willing to waive the schedule and refer it to the district boards. "I am sorry," he declared, "that the government has banged the door in the miners' faces, and hope the House won't do the same thing. The men must have something tangible and substantial."

Seen a 'Hobble' Car? Elevated Wants It

The Boston Elevated Railway Company is looking for a car to suit Greater Boston women who wear "hobble" skirts, by having lower steps—a "Hobble" car, in fact. This became known today when a query was propounded to Elevated officials:

"Will you put into operation the new stepless cars which have proved a success in New York?"

The Elevated had never heard of the new car. It was stated, however, at headquarters that the company is trying in some effective fashion, but by means within the financial reach of the company, to meet the new conditions. It was stirred to activity by protests of women against the high-car steps.

The new car looks like a battleship, according to description. Resting low on the street, the doors are in the middle of each side. The door of the car is scarcely ten inches above the pavement level, and it is as easy to step into a car as to step up from the street level to the curbstone.

The Elevated company has made an effort to meet conditions by having the platform level of the new prepayment cars lower than the car floor.

CLARK'S NAME ON THE BALLOT

The name of Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives, will be on the ballot in this State as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President.

The names of Governor Foss and Senator Robert M. La Follette, it is assured, will also be on the ballot. Other candidates may be added, but up to today no move has been made to put other names on the ballot. It requires the signatures of 1000 voters to put a name on the ballot as a Presidential candidate.

The Clark forces are very strong in this State. The Boston Post said today:

"It is believed that there will be a big vote cast for Mr. Clark, and that on the second ballot the Massachusetts delegation will be obliged to vote for him."

Governor Foss has told Thomas P. Riley, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, that he is in no sense a candidate for the nomination, but the Democrats of the State want his name on the ballot, and it will be there.

The plan of the Democratic State Committee is to have the delegates at large pledged to Foss.

Horse, Wagon and Harness.
ALSO LIGHT HARNESS,
LIGHT CONCORD BUGGY,
AND ALL GOODS USED WITH OUTFIT,
ALL $115, OR SELL SEPARATE.

THE HORSE is a dark bay, 8 yrs. old, is in very good order, has nice, clean, smooth limbs, and good, sound, solid feet, is a good, fast walker and free driver and weighs about 1,150 lbs.; he is fearless of everything, including steam trains, automobiles, steam rollers and elevated trains, and will stand without hitching, and any one can drive him that can hold reins; would make a grand horse for family or farm use, as he is just the right size to pull a ton to a wagon of any kind; cost me green two years ago $265 and is worth $200 today to anyone wanting an all-around horse, as he is perfectly gentle in stable; I will pay freight on him provided anyone takes him to the country; I have used him on our painter's wagon, but have put on an auto truck; wagon is good and solid and can carry 1½ tons; harness and Concord buggy in first-class condition; now anyone in search of a first-class horse should call and see this property, as it is just as represented, and I will allow a trial of 30 days on the horse. It can be seen at 1233 Columbus av., Boston, Roxbury Crossing. P. S.—Ask to see Mr. Stickney's property; also blankets.

Two Views of Thomas Jefferson—One an American View, the Other "Smart Aleck"

Of the Two Men Whose Two Views Are Quoted, Which Do You Think Is Best Suited to Succeed Thomas Jefferson in the White House?

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal-Examiner

Joseph Pulitzer left in his will $25,000 to be used in building a monument to Thomas Jefferson, who wrote the Declaration of Independence—and then helped to make it real.

Among the many who have contributed to carry out Mr. Pulitzer's admirable idea is Champ Clark, the Democratic Speaker of the House of Representatives, a man who may sit in the seat of Jefferson less than a year from this day. Here is an extract from what Mr. Clark wrote in sending his contribution to the Jefferson monument:

"I will chip in my mite to help the good work along. Jefferson was the profoundest philosopher that ever devoted his life to statesmanship, and one of the greatest original thinkers the world has ever produced. * * * His political ideas have leavened the entire mass of humanity and will finally become universal in practice. * * * If anybody deserves a monument, most assuredly he does."

He shares the admiration that millions feel for the character of Jefferson, the admiration expressed in the will of the late Joseph Pulitzer, who was a profound student of American politics and American history.

It is interesting to contrast this opinion of Jefferson with the opinion of another individual who is a candidate for Jefferson's place in the White House. We refer to Woodrow Wilson, Governor of the State of New Jersey—a State, by the way, from which he was absent every day in February except two—absent in search of another office while neglecting the office for which he draws his salary from the public.

We quote from Mr. Wilson's book, entitled "George Washington." If you have any idea of voting for Wilson you had better read that book.

In this particular quotation which we give you Mr. Wilson talks of Thomas Jefferson as disrespectfully as he talked of George Washington, whom he accused of dishonesty in land speculation and of claiming credit for documents that he did not write. Mr. Wilson's opinion of Jefferson contrasts interestingly with that of Champ Clark, who is willing to admit that the men who established this country may have been respectable, honest and able. Mr. Wilson writes in his book, "George Washington," as follows:

> "He (Washington) had taken Jefferson direct from France, where for five years he had been watching a revolution come on apace, hurried from stage to stage, not by statesmen who were masters in the art and practice of freedom, like those who had presided in the councils of America, but by demagogues and philosophers rather; and the subtle air of that change had crept into the man's thought. He had come back a philosophical radical rather than a statesman. He had yet to learn, in the practical air of America, what plain and steady policy must serve him to win hard-headed men to his following; and Washington found him a guide who needed watching."

Have you read the life of Jefferson? Do you know how he worked in France as an honest American, liberal, philosophical, true to his nation in every thought? Do you remember how that man who left office bankrupt—but who, unlike Mr. Wilson, never asked a millionaire to pension him—struggled to maintain the highest ideals of America?

You know, of course, about the life of Washington, his struggles and sacrifices for his country. He was a man of education who thought deeply. Yet Mr. Wilson once denied that Washington wrote his own Farewell Address.

We quote from the Outlook of August 26, 1911, part of an article published by Henry Beach Needham:

> "You were speaking at the University Club banquet in Washington several years ago. It was Washington's Birthday."
> Mr. Wilson nodded. "I remember the occasion very well," he said.
> "In your speech you referred to Washington's 'Farewell Address,' and interposed this parenthetical remark: 'Which he did not write.' You did not explain who did write Washington's 'Farewell Address,' nor did you indicate what authority you had for your statement. And it struck me at the time," I continued, "that the remark was pedantic, a gratuitous slap at the Father of Our Country—and on his birthday, too."
> The Governor of New Jersey smiled. "I remember how I kicked myself after I had made that statement," he said. "I can only account for it in this way—that most men, on some occasion or other, cannot resist the temptation to play the Smart Aleck."

If you know Jefferson and Washington historically, you can have no idea of voting for Woodrow Wilson, unless you are more interested in the future that an uncertain pedagogue may offer to your own country than in the splendid achievements and the splendid men that are the foundation of this nation.

Mr. Wilson—you may be interested to know it—has a rather small view of all American statesmen that preceded him, just as he has a contemptuous opinion of all immigrants and others born outside of the pure provincialism in which his mighty intellect was raised to the dizzy height of American manhood at which it went begging for a pension to Andrew Carnegie.

Would you care to know what Statesman Wilson thinks of a small person called Andrew Jackson—hitherto respected by benighted Americans?

In 1889 he wrote again in the Atlantic Monthly, and this time condescended to classify Andrew Jackson. We quote his words exactly:

> "The country is older now than it was when Andrew Jackson delighted in his power, and few can believe that it would again approve or applaud childish arrogance and ignorant arbitrariness like his."

This was what Wilson wrote of Washington when he wrote for the Atlantic Monthly in 1897:

> "Of course, he (Washington) had a direct pecuniary interest in the development of the Western lands—had himself pre-empted many a broad acre lying upon the fair Ohio, as upon the nearer Western slope of the mountains—and it is for any one who likes the sinister suggestion to say that his ardor for the occupancy of the Western country was that of the land speculator, not that of the statesman."

Hear Wilson, who wants you to make him President.

He calls Washington dishonest, a land speculator posing as a patriot.

He sees in Jefferson a man lacking the qualities that would fit a man for responsible work, and in Jackson he sees "childish arrogance and ignorant arbitrariness."

A very poor excuse, but extremely suggestive excuse, is that which Mr. Wilson offers, now that, with truly pedagogical lack of humor, he aspires to the chair occupied by Washington, Jefferson and Jackson, who seem so small to him.

Mr. Wilson says that when he wrote as above about the men who made this country he was "playing the Smart Aleck."

We are inclined to think that the people of the United States will find among the ninety millions of their fellow citizens somebody for the Presidential office WHO IS NOT A "SMART ALECK."

It will occur to many Americans before next June that the "smart Aleck" disease is the fundamental trouble with Mr. Wilson.

He was a "smart Aleck" when he attacked the revered memory of Washington at the University Club banquet.

He was a "smart Aleck" and a disrespectful and shameless "Aleck" when he made the sinister suggestion against Washington's character in the Atlantic Monthly.

Mr. Wilson was a "smart Aleck" when he attacked the Italians, the Hungarians, the Poles and others of the humble, honest, hard workers that do their share in this country—AND ASK NO FAVOR AND NO CARNEGIE PENSION.

Mr. Wilson was a "smart Aleck" when he attacked the pensioning of old soldiers and asked a Carnegie pension for himself—when he was earning some ten thousand dollars a year or, rather drawing the salary from the people of New Jersey without working for it.

Mr. Wilson would probably CONTINUE to be a "smart Aleck" if ever he were nominated for President.

He would be a "smart Aleck" all through the campaign, involving his party in innumerable difficulties arising from "smart Aleck" remarks.

If elected President he would be a "smart Aleck" President, with all the complications for business men and working men and all the hindrances to prosperity and all the foreign entanglements that a "smart Aleck" policy would shortly create if a "smart Aleck" President were sitting in the seat of George Washington, Jefferson and Jackson — WHO WERE NOT "SMART ALECKS," HOWEVER LOW AN OPINION MR. WILSON MAY HAVE OF THEM.

Do Not Be Angry if Told Your Head Is a Vacuum

By Garrett P. Serviss

If you should tell a man that his head was a vacuum he would probably knock you down, or wish he could, yet you might be paying him a very great compliment, for there is nothing so receptive as a vacuum. The real insult would be in telling him that his head was a plenum, for a plenum can receive nothing. Being full already, it is a symbol of stagnation.

The man whose head was really full would be in a deplorable state unless he could produce a vacuum in it by getting rid of old, useless, out-of-date notions, knowledge and prejudices and thus make room for the inflow of something new and better. Reading an article in Good Housekeeping Magazine on the wonders of vacuum cleaners leads me to reflect that a really active human brain is very like one of those surprising machines. They typify the action of every great, scientific mind.

When Napoleon was organizing his vast code of laws every man who approached him felt the suction of that tremendous mental vacuum pump which drew out the deepest things hidden in other minds, and then sorted, organized and vitalized them.

Napoleon was superior to other men because he had plenty of room in his head. He did not allow it to become a plenum. He constantly rejected the old, worn-out and the useless, blowing it away like dust and keeping only the permanently useful, of which there can never be enough to fill any mind.

Newton, after all his years of discovery, declared that he had gathered only a grain of sand from the shore of the ocean of knowledge. He, too, was a great intellectual vacuum machine, always gathering and constantly rejecting.

It is amazing that man should have been so long in discovering some of the simplest uses of a vacuum. For unnumbered centuries housewives had been laboriously sweeping their rooms with ineffective brooms, raising the dust into the air, to be burned in their lungs, and to scatter noxious germs broadcast. Philosophers had been sucking the air out of glass bells and exhibiting the wonders of the vacuum to schoolboys. Everybody had all their lives been watching flies walking on the ceiling and up the window panes, sustained by the pressure of the air. No student was ignorant of the fact that if two large hollow hemispheres were pressed together and exhausted of air a team of horses could not draw them apart. Yet until a new inventive genius came along a few years ago nobody thought of making the pressure of the atmosphere do the housewife's disagreeable work with infinitely increased thoroughness and incomparably less danger.

If I am not mistaken Edison had made his vacuum lamps and certainly Crookes had produced his marvellous vacuum tubes before the vacuum cleaner was invented. And yet the latter is by far the simpler contrivance. But in operation it is a wonderful thing to watch. The rubber tube with its serpent head goes into a dusty corner or creeps along the top of a molding, and the dirt and the accumulated germ-filled dust disappear into the hidden vacuum as if by magic. With a powerful machine the dust under a thick carpet comes up, invisibly, through the web and woof, rushes unseen into the receptacle, and when the apparatus has passed the floor is clean.

Still the vacuum which does such surprising work is far from being perfect. Man cannot make a perfect vacuum, but a partial one serves his purpose. When the air in a Crookes tube is exhausted to a millionth of the ordinary pressure of the atmosphere something yet remains which is so mysterious in its properties that some have supposed it to be matter reduced to a fourth state.

We know matter in only three states—solid, liquid and gaseous. We can produce these states ourselves in a laboratory. We can turn a bit of solid iron into a liquid and then into a gas. But the something which remains in a Crookes tube does not behave like either a solid, a liquid or a gas. About all that can be said about it is that it is in continual motion. It strikes about on all sides and makes everything it touches phosphorescent. It causes a diamond to glow with a green light, and gives a living blush to a ruby.

But if we could produce a perfect vacuum it would be no vacuum at all, for it would be filled with the most rigid thing conceivable—the ether. The ether, which is thought to fill all space, cannot be exhausted or drawn off. It brings to us the light of the stars, but it defies the laws of mechanics.

Because there seems to be no better way to account for the phenomena that ether produces it has been assumed that the ether is the only really solid, rigid thing in existence. It is so rigid that it passes through everything and leaves no mark, and everything passes through it and feels no resistance. But here we are getting on the borderland of science, where, at present, theory has to take the place of known fact.

Some day somebody may discover what ether really is. Another Newton, with a more perfect mental vacuum, will draw its secret out of the dark corners of nature.

Don't Let Oklahoma Take Superintendent Brooks from Boston—Give His Salary a Boost

Stratton D. Brooks, superintendent of schools in Boston, should be induced to remain here. The very fact that Oklahoma wants him is a good reason why Boston should not let him go. In a matter of such supreme importance to the welfare of the city as this, the question of salary should not be allowed to interfere with the best interests of our schools.

No single enterprise in this or any other city is of more importance than the education of the boys and girls. They are to be the future citizens of the country. They must go out into the world and fight the battle for decent living conditions, for the betterment of the city, the State, the nation.

These are critical times in educational circles. It is a transition period when the old ways of teaching are giving place to new lines of instruction.

This is just the time when Boston needs a man of wisdom—a man who can LOOK INTO THE FUTURE and build for it.

Superintendent Brooks likes Boston. He says we have the best system of schools in the country. But the system could be improved —all systems can, and the man to do it is Mr. Brooks.

The University of Oklahoma has offered Superintendent Brooks a salary of $7,500 a year. That is $1.500 more than Boston pays him. If Oklahoma can afford to pay Superintendent Brooks that salary Boston can afford to pay him MORE.

No OFFICIAL is TOO GOOD for Boston. This city is entitled to the BEST, not only along educational lines but in every other municipal department.

Laugh and Laugh Often

It Brightens the Eye and Is Good Music for the Family—Cultivate Your Sense of Humor

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"Fate served me meanly, but I looked at her and laughed
That none might know how bitter was the cup I quaffed.
Along came Joy and paused beside me
where I sat,
Saying, 'I came to see what you were laughing at.'"

THERE is enough inspiration in these four lines to repay any one for the trouble of committing them to memory.

But it musn't end there. There would be no good results with a poem like that in one's head, with no inspiration of it in one's heart.

No good could result in knowing of one who drank his sorrow with a laugh, unless that knowledge were accompanied by a determination to do likewise.

For "Along came Joy," and along will always come Joy to those who laugh, to find what they are laughing at.

So laugh, and laugh often. If there is nothing in sight to laugh at, laugh at that. Get the habit. Laugh three times a day, and get into practice.

Your laugh may be a little giggle, or it may not be in what musicians call the "right key," but that makes no difference. If it is a genuine laugh, there is good in it.

It may start with a titter and wind up in a squeal; it may defy the scales and outrage every rule of harmony, but there is more music in it than in a growl that is in perfect tune.

It causes all who hear to smile, and the smile means a temporary forgetfulness of the cup of sorrow at the lips. It is a missionary—a little daily, hourly, missionary of which this heavily burdened world is in need.

Laughter begins in the lungs and diaphragm, and as it comes to the surface it sets the liver, the stomach and other organs into a jelly-like vibration that is good for them.

It descends to the stomach, and shakes it, hurrying the process of digestion; it accelerates the respiration and gives warmth and glow to the entire system.

It brightens the eye, increases perspiration, expands the chest, forces poisoned air from the least-used lung cells, and restores health.

It makes good music for the family and delights the neighbors. They want to know one who finds so much to laugh at that they may also laugh. "Such good company" is always said of the one who laughs; it is never said of the long-faced weeper.

The beauty of the laugh is that it is not dependent on expenditure of money or time. Those who can afford to spend ten dollars for an evening's entertainment do not laugh as much as those who spend only ten cents.

Therefore, the ten-cent laugh is the better investment, and those who can't afford the ten-dollar imitation are the better off.

Laugh, and when there is nothing in sight to laugh at, laugh at that. Cultivate your sense of humor. It is the redeeming grace of mankind.

Try it now! Laugh at the notion that any one dare presume to tell you, with your world of woe on your shoulder, to laugh.

Laugh at the folly of this article; laugh at the presumption of the writer; laugh, please, just once! Now, please, LAUGH!

Little Bobbie's Pa

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

THARE was a awful scrap up to our house last nite. Pa had two friends up thare, a Mister Burke & a Mister West. Mister Burke was a Southern gentleman & Mister West was a Western gentleman. The thing thay was fiteing about was Mister Rusevelt.

Pa & Ma doant like fites unless they have the fites themselfs, so all they did was to set thare & yawn.

You can say all that you want to, sed Mister West; Mister Rusevelt is a gentelman & a scholar.

He may be a little of both, sed Mister Burke, but he nevver figgered to be in the saim class with Mister Taft. Taft has always had a clear head. He nevver got mad & threw his hat into a ring. Thare is a whole lot of solidness about Taft, Pa sed. I agree with you, Mr. Burke.

You two stiffs can agree with each other all nite, sed Mister West. Little do you know the kind of a hero that you are trying to put out of the campane. Why, that man has went through more warfare in one (1) year than the average married man goes thru in one (1) month. You surprise me, sed Mister West. Why, Mister Rusevelt has climbed moar hills and neegotiated moar bluffs than you will evver know.

I am kind of keen for Mister Taft, sed Mr. Burke. You see, I am a Southern man, and I have always figgered that Rusevelt thinks moar of the West than he does of the South.

Gentlemen, gentlemen, sed Ma, remember thare are two (2) ladies present. Let us put an end to these savage wars, sed Ma. Let us talk about moving pictures or sumthing of that sort.

Parding me, lady, sed Mister West, but I don't like Taft.

I, too, crave your in-dulgence, sed Mister Burke, but I must say that Mister Rusevelt cuddent be the Mayor of Chippewa Falls, let alone the President of the United States.

Bobbie, sed Ma, befour these gentelmen git to swinging at eech other, let us heer that poem that you rote about Rusevelt. Maybe that will pour oil on the trubbled waters, Ma sed. So I recsited:

It was nineteen twelve in the Autumn
& the candidate's name was Rusevelt,
& after the votes had been counted
Rusevelt jest like the deuce felt.

Ha, ha, sed Mister Burke. I am glad to know that thare are sum men which has branes left. Thank you, kid. Thare is a lot of class clinging to you.

I think he is a sassy littel brat, sed Mister West, to rite that kind of a poem about Mister Rusevelt.

Doant you dare to call my boy a nalm like that, sed Pa.

I call anybody anything I like, sed Mister West.

That doesn't go for me, sed Mister

Burke. I won't let Bobbie's Pa fite you; I am going to fite you myself.

& then the party came to a end, Beckaus Ma toald all the gentlemen that neether Mister Taft or Mister Rusevelt was going to be elected. The ladies are going to vote, sed Ma, & thay are going to elect a lady President, like Missus Ella Wilcox, which rote:

Vote & the world votes with you,
Repeat, & you vote ten times.

I wish there wuddent be any Presidents or politicks.
